Critical ELT Practices in Asia Kiwan Sung,Rod Pederson,2012-09-13 This is the first and long awaited work on critical approaches to teaching English for the purposes of democracy and social justice that challenges the current views of ELT such as English being merely a tool for communication or the acquisition of basic skills or high test scores for advancement in education and the marketplace A timely work and a fresh look at critical approaches to ELT in Asia An invaluable work that simultaneously problematizes current ELT practices while introducing new possibilities for critical practices in localized contexts in Asia An important work that shines a light on how the forces of globalization not only dictate the spread of English as an international language but how these forces also dictate what is taught and how An informative view on how ELT practices are being re envisioned by critical educators in Asia This groundbreaking volume compiling critical perspectives of English language teaching in China Hong Kong Indonesia Korea and Sri Lanka confronts colonial legacies observed in educational practices and policies that perpetuate a divide between the privileged and the underprivileged The critical reflections scrutinize the nature of English as a commodified gatekeeper and simultaneously provide alternative visions for language education Ryuko Kubota Professor The university of British Columbia Resources for Multilingual Writers and ESL Diana Hacker,Marcy Carbajal Van Horn,Kimberli Huster,2020-07-16 This supplement both resident and international students understand college expectations and develop strategies for improving their academic English and academic writing Written by an ESL expert this booklet includes plenty of helpful charts activities exercises and model papers along with notes about where to find additional resources online and on campus

Two-Year College Writing Studies Darin Jensen,Brett Griffiths,2023-12-15 Two Year College Writing Studies is a comprehensive overview of the two year college writing teaching experience within our current political and historical contexts with examples for teachers to better enact just teaching practices in their colleges Editors Darin Jensen and Brett Griffiths present grounded well theorized and practical strategies for teachers to implement in classrooms institutions and geopolitical contexts to advocate more effectively for their students Contributors draw on theories of identity rhetorical third space and linguistics to articulate a praxis of just teaching They describe existing institutional challenges and opportunities that foster equity and offer cautionary tales of educational systems dismantled for short term economic and political gains Two year college writing studies when properly resourced holds the potential to foster or undermine democratic ideals of civic literacy and uplift Chapters in this volume offer case study examples of changes in departmental practices for reflection interaction and assessment that empower faculty to break free and engage directly with institutional regional state and national constraints By making these resilient practices visible Two Year College Writing Studies amplifies the voices and validates the experiences of instructors engaging in this work It will serve generalists specialists and academics interested in the subdiscipline of student success pedagogies and the political histories of two year colleges and be useful for instructors new to the field as professional development for veteran instructors and as an introduction for graduate students entering two year college writing studies programs WAC and Second Language Writers Terry Myers Zawacki,Michelle Cox,2014-05-14 Editors and contributors pursue the ambitious goal of including within WAC theory research and practice the differing perspectives educational experiences and voices of second language writers The chapters within this collection not only report new research but also share a wealth of pedagogical curricular and programmatic practices relevant to second language writers Representing a range of institutional perspectives including those of students and faculty at public universities community colleges liberal arts colleges and English language schools and a diverse set of geographical and cultural contexts the editors and contributors report on work taking place in the United States Asia Europe and the Middle East Writing Groups for Doctoral Education and Beyond Claire Aitchison,Cally Guerin,2014-04-24 Writing is the principal means by which doctoral candidature is monitored and measured this combined with the growing tendency to use publications as proxy measures of individual and institutional productivity underlines the centrality of writing in academia One of the central questions for scholars in higher education therefore is How do we make writing happen and it is this question which the book seeks to answer The book provides detailed illustrations of collaborative writing pedagogies which are powerfully enabling and through theoretical and conceptual interrogation of these practices the authors point the way for individuals as well as institutions to establish writing groups that are lively responsive and context specific Key topics include new pedagogical responses for increased writing productivity and the push to publish innovations for supporting academic writing quality confidence and output scaffolding the thesis writing process new theoretical explorations of collaborative writing approaches writing group formulations and pedagogical approaches writing groups for non native speakers of English writing as women in higher education A particular strength of this book is that it showcases the potential of writing groups for advanced academic writing by pulling together a unique mix of authors and scholarly approaches representing a wide range of new theoretical and pedagogical frames from diverse countries Writing Groups for Doctoral Education and Beyond will be attractive to academics seeking new ways to advance their writing productivity doctoral students their supervisors and those who are tasked with the job of supporting them through the completion and dissemination of their research Academic and Professional Writing in an Age of Accountability Shirley Wilson Logan,Wayne H. Slater,2018-12-27 What current theoretical frameworks inform academic and professional writing What does research tell us about the effectiveness of academic and professional writing programs What do we know about existing best practices What are the current guidelines and procedures in evaluating a program's effectiveness. What are the possibilities in regard to future research and changes to best practices in these programs in an age of accountability? Editors Shirley Wilson Logan and Wayne H. Slater bring together leading scholars in rhetoric and composition to consider the history, trends, and future of academic and professional writing in higher education through the lens of these five central questions. The first two essays in the book provide a history of the academic and professional writing program at the University of Maryland. Subsequent essays explore successes and challenges in the establishment and development of writing programs at four other major institutions, identify the features of language that facilitate academic and professional communication, look at the ways digital practices in academic and professional writing have shaped how writers compose and respond to texts, and examine the role of assessment in curriculum and pedagogy. An afterword by distinguished rhetoric and composition scholars Jessica Enoch and Scott Wible offers perspectives on the future of academic and professional writing. This collection takes stock of the historical, rhetorical, linguistic, digital, and evaluative aspects of the teaching of writing in higher education. Among the critical issues addressed are how university writing programs were first established and what early challenges they faced; where writing programs were housed and who administered them; how the language backgrounds of composition students inform the way writing is taught; the ways in which current writing technologies create new digital environments; and how student learning and programmatic outcomes should be assessed.

First-Year Composition Deborah Coxwell-Teague, Ronald F. Lunsford, 2014-05-01. First Year Composition: From Theory to Practice's combination of theory and practice provides readers an opportunity to hear twelve of the leading theorists in composition studies answer in their own voices the key question of what it is they hope to accomplish in a first-year composition course. In addition, these chapters and the accompanying syllabi provide rich insights into the classroom practices of these theorists.
