Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing Jürgen Hesselbach, Christoph Herrmann, 2011-03-19 The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 continues a long tradition of scientific meetings focusing on the exchange of industrial and academic knowledge and experiences in life cycle assessment product development sustainable manufacturing and end of life management The theme Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing addresses the need for engineers to develop solutions which have the potential to address global challenges by providing products services and processes taking into account local capabilities and constraints to achieve an economically socially and environmentally sustainable society in a global perspective Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing do not only involve products or services that are changed for a local market by simple substitution or the omitting of functions Products and services need to be addressed that ensure a high standard of living everywhere Resources required for manufacturing and use of such products are limited and not evenly distributed in the world Locally available resources local capabilities as well as local constraints have to be drivers for product and process innovations with respect to the entire life cycle The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 serves as a platform for the discussion of the resulting challenges and the collaborative development of new scientific ideas Pattern formation in biology Luis

Marine Ecosystem Assessment for the Southern Ocean: Meeting the Challenge for Conserving Earth Ecosystems in the Long Term Monica M. C. Muelbert, 2024-12-24 National and international agencies need assessments of change in ecosystems and their drivers in order to sustain natural systems to maintain the delivery of services and to meet the challenge for conserving Earth ecosystems in the long term In marine systems change may arise directly from human activities e g fisheries indirectly from local or global activities cascading effects through food webs from fisheries or changing environments from climate change and or ocean acidification or from naturally varying processes A particular challenge for managers is to identify how dangerous future climate change will be for ecosystems and their services and whether mitigation or adaptation may be needed in advance in order to achieve the conservation requirements For regions of international attention particularly those that have the attention of many management or policy oriented bodies a standardized process is needed to harmonize the scientific information on the status and trends in ecosystems used by the different bodies That process also needs to ensure the information is available in a timely manner For example assessments of change in habitats species and or food webs in the Southern Ocean are currently compiled separately for at least ten different international organizations or processes A Marine Ecosystem Assessment for the Southern Ocean MEASO aims to harmonize that information for policy makers This assessment began with an international conference in April 2018 <http://www.measo2018.aq> where it was agreed to undertake the first MEASO over 2018-2019 with the view to provide the outcomes to relevant bodies such as the Scientific Committee for the Conservation of Antarctic Marine Living Resources soon after

Stress and Environmental Regulation of Gene Expression and Adaptation in Bacteria, 2 Volume Set Frans J. de Bruijn, 2016-09-06 Bacteria in various habitats are subject to continuously changing environmental conditions such as nutrient deprivation heat and cold stress UV radiation oxidative stress desiccation acid stress nitrosative stress cell envelope stress heavy metal exposure osmotic stress and others In order to survive they have to respond to these conditions by adapting their physiology through sometimes drastic changes in gene expression In addition they may adapt by changing their morphology forming biofilms fruiting bodies or spores filaments Viable But Not Culturable VBNC cells or moving away from stress compounds via chemotaxis Changes in gene expression constitute the main component of the bacterial response to stress and environmental changes and involve a myriad of different mechanisms including alternative sigma factors bi or tri component regulatory systems small non coding RNA s chaperones CHRIS Cas systems DNA repair toxin antitoxin systems the stringent response efflux pumps alarmones and modulation of the cell envelope or membranes to name a few Many regulatory elements are conserved in different bacteria however there are endless variations on the theme and novel elements of gene regulation in bacteria inhabiting particular environments are constantly being discovered Especially in pathogenic bacteria colonizing the human body a plethora of bacterial responses to innate stresses such as pH reactive nitrogen and oxygen species and antibiotic stress are being described An attempt is made to not only cover model systems but give a broad overview of the stress responsive regulatory systems in a variety of bacteria including medically important bacteria where elucidation of certain aspects of these systems could lead to treatment strategies of the pathogens Many of the regulatory systems being uncovered are specific but there is also considerable cross talk between different circuits Stress and Environmental Regulation of Gene Expression and Adaptation in Bacteria is a comprehensive two volume work bringing together both review and original research articles on key topics in stress and environmental control of gene expression in bacteria Volume One contains key overview chapters as well as content on one two three component regulatory systems and stress responses sigma factors and stress responses small non coding RNAs and stress responses toxin antitoxin systems and stress responses stringent response to stress responses to UV irradiation SOS and double stranded systems repair systems and stress adaptation to both oxidative and osmotic stress and desiccation tolerance and drought stress Volume Two covers heat shock responses chaperonins and stress cold shock responses adaptation to acid stress nitrosative stress and envelope stress as well as iron homeostasis metal resistance quorum sensing chemotaxis and biofilm formation and viable but not culturable VBNC cells Covering the full breadth of current stress and environmental control of gene expression studies and expanding it towards future advances in the field these two volumes are a one stop reference for non medical molecular geneticists interested in gene regulation under stress Instructor's Manual to Chris Park's The Environment Greg Lewis,2012-11-12

The very survival of the planet is at risk human misuse of natural resources and disturbance of natural environmental systems is pushing the Earth to the limits of its capacity The Environment is a lively comprehensive introduction for environmental study explaining how the environment functions how environmental systems relate and the ways in which people and environment interact Focussing particularly on the environmental impacts of human activities the book explains the ways in which an understanding of basic physical principles can help us to use the environment and its resources Three particular approaches are adopted throughout a systems approach highlighting the interactions and interrelationships between the environment s diverse parts an interdisciplinary perspective stepping back from individual subject focus to examine the complex breadth of the environment s diversity a global perspective incorporating stimulating examples drawn from around the world to illustrate broad global patterns and contrasts The Environment explains the principles and applications of the different parts of the Earth's system the lithosphere the atmosphere the hydrosphere and explains the interrelationship across these systems It explores the present environmental crisis examines how the planet Earth fits into the wider universe and explores human environment interactions to offer a clear understanding of the diverse and complex environment we live in and new ways of thinking about the way it is changing Specific features include Lively stimulating and accessible text Superb illustrations 4 colour plate sections Case studies drawn from around the world boxed within the text Chapter summaries Annotated further reading lists A Lecturer's Manual is available to accompany the text Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Derrill D. Watson II, 2011-09-15 Despite technological advances in agriculture nearly a billion people around the world still suffer from hunger and poor nutrition while a billion are overweight or obese This imbalance highlights the need not only to focus on food production but also to implement successful food policies In this new textbook intended to be used with the three volumes of Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries also from Cornell the 2001 World Food Prize laureate Per Pinstrup Andersen and his colleague Derrill D Watson II analyze international food policies and discuss how such policies can and must address the many complex challenges that lie ahead in view of continued poverty globalization climate change food price volatility natural resource degradation demographic and dietary transitions and increasing interests in local and organic food production Food Policy for Developing Countries offers a social entrepreneurship approach to food policy analysis Calling on a wide variety of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography the authors show how all elements in the food system function together Patterns and Processes of Speciation in Ancient Lakes Thomas Wilke, Risto Väinölä, Frank Riedel, 2009-04-02 Ancient lakes are exceptional freshwater environments that have continued to exist for hundreds of thousands of years They have long been recognized as centres of biodiversity and hotspots of evolution During recent decades speciation in ancient lakes has emerged as an important and exciting topic in evolutionary biology The contributions in this volume deal with patterns and processes of biological diversification in three prominent ancient lake systems Of these the famous East African Great Lakes already have a strong tradition of evolutionary studies but the two other systems have so far received much less attention The exceptional biodiversity of the European sister lakes Ohrid and Prespa of the Balkans has long been known but has largely been neglected in the international literature until recently The rich biota and problems of its evolution in the two central lake systems on the Indonesian island of Sulawesi in turn have only lately started to draw scientific attention This volume aims at deepening the awareness of the unusual biological diversity in ancient lakes in general and of the role of these lakes as natural laboratories for the study of speciation and diversification in particular It should stimulate further research that will lead to a better understanding of key evolutionary processes in these lakes and to knowledge that might help in mitigating the deterioration of their diversity in the future Cell Biology and Genetics Cecie Starr, Ralph Taggart, Christine A.
