

2011-12 Biology Semester 1

Exam review

Format/stuff to bring:

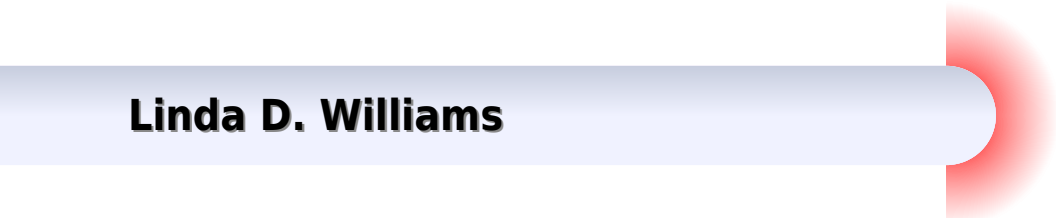

- About 130 multiple choice questions on Scantron
- You will need a pencil
- Bring something to do afterward. In accordance with school policy, there will be no electronic devices allowed
- The test is constructed in order with each unit labeled. That is, the questions are not all mixed up.
- The number of questions for each unit is proportional to the time spent on the unit. Units that went by pretty quickly don't have a whole lot of questions, compared to longer units.

How to prepare:

- You get to bring a notecard no bigger than 4x6, HANDWRITTEN (not done on computer) with anything you want. One side only! This card is due the Tuesday before the exam and will be passed back to you at exam time. If your card is not done at this time, you can not use one.
- Use this yellow sheet to determine what to put on the notecard. Go through this sheet and write definitions/answers next to things you don't know. Then study this and put only things you don't know on the card! Why would you put something you do know?
- Review the things behind each divider in your binder. If you haven't been organizing your notebook the way I've asked you to, now you find out why I told you to do it that way! The things that have been three hole punched are test reflections (green), review sheets (yellow), vocab/bookquizzes (pink), pretests and self assessments (salmon), class notes and checklists. Basically you should be preparing for this test just as you did for each individual chapter test. A lot of these are available on SchoolPointe and have answer keys with them.
- Look back at your test reflections. What did you have trouble with? Be sure to review those things. The test reflection also has up at the top ideas for what you should be doing to review. Try some of those things, if you have not. If you'd like to see an old test, you will have to come after school to do that.
- Do a little at a time. Don't wait until the night before the exam and try to relearn it all.
- Tuesday before exams might be time for us to review together (depends on how things work out for last unit). If you have not done any preparation on your own before then, you are wasting the opportunity to ask me questions. I am not planning any kind of formal review game or practice test.

Comar, 2013 There is a gap between the extensive mathematics background that is beneficial to biologists and the minimal mathematics background biology students acquire in their courses The result is an undergraduate education in biology with very little quantitative content New mathematics courses must be devised with the needs of biology students in mind In this volume authors from a variety of institutions address some of the problems involved in reforming mathematics curricula for biology students The problems are sorted into three themes Models Processes and Directions It is difficult for mathematicians to generate curriculum ideas for the training of biologists so a number of the curriculum models that have been introduced at various institutions comprise the Models section Processes deals with taking that great course and making sure it is institutionalized in both the biology department as a requirement and in the mathematics department as a course that will live on even if the creator of the course is no longer on the faculty Directions looks to the future with each paper laying out a case for pedagogical developments that the authors would like to see Curriculum Handbook with General Information Concerning ... for the United States Air Force Academy United States Air Force Academy, 2003

Teacher's Professional Development Sabine Krolak-Schwerdt, Sabine Glock, Matthias Böhmer, 2014-04-03 A central aspect of teachers professional knowledge and competence is the ability to assess students achievements adequately Giving grades and marks is one prototypical task in this context Besides giving grades assessments for school placements or tracking decisions belong to these tasks Relevant students characteristics which influence teachers assessments do not only involve academic achievement but also students responses to different task demands as well as non academic characteristics such as learning motivation or school anxiety Closely associated with the investigation of teachers assessment competences and more specifically the investigation of conditions associated with high quality of assessments is the development and evaluation of teacher training programs to improve professional competences In recent years there has been considerable progress in the domain of professional teacher training however only a very limited number of studies are dedicated to the question to what extend training programs might offer valuable approaches to improve the quality of assessments and to implement high assessment competences Another important field which is closely related to teachers competences concerns the question how teachers professional development is linked to students learning and learning outcomes In recent years the societal demand for evidence that teachers professional development will result in improved student learning outcomes is increasing This volume brings together questions on assessment training and learning in the professional development of teachers which have not been fully discussed yet The identification of these research gaps was the reason for dedicating a series of lectures given at the University of Luxembourg 2012 to the topic of professionalization of teachers in these domains

Therefore this book contains contributions from outstanding international scholars in different academic disciplines to present ideas about open research questions concerning the domains of assessment training and learning in the professional development of teachers
