(Poverty) (Unit – 5) (Culture and Tradition) (Chapter 3) (Ila Sachani: Embroidering Dreams with her Feet)
(Class – VI)

Let us think and reflect

Question 1:

1. Read the following lines and answer the questions that follow.

Unlike other children, she could not use her hands in the usual way. While other small hands drew figures in the sand or plucked wild flowers, she wondered why she could not join them. She too wanted to hold a chalk in her hands and draw figures on a slate.

(a) Choose the correct option to fill in the blank.

'Unlike other children' means that Ila was _____. (unaware/different/simple)

(b) What could Ila have felt when she could not join others in things they did?

(c) Complete the following with a suitable reason.

Ila could not draw figures on the slate because _____.

Answer 1:

(a) 'Unlike other children' means that Ila was different. (unaware/different/simple)

(b) Ila likely felt sad, frustrated, and isolated when she could not join others in their activities. She might have felt left out and longed to participate in the same way as the other children.

(c) Ila could not draw figures on the slate because her hands hung loose by her sides and she could not use them in the usual way.

Question 2:

What creative ways did Ila and her family use to overcome the challenges she faced?

Answer 2:

Ila's family, particularly her mother and grandmother, taught her to use her feet for tasks that are typically done with hands. They trained her in Kathiawar embroidery using her feet. Ila also learned to use her legs for everyday tasks like eating and combing her hair. This creative approach helped Ila develop the skills she needed to become an expert embroiderer.

Question 3:

How did 'new independence' help Ila?

Answer 3:

The 'new independence' helped Ila in several ways:

- Financial Independence: She was able to earn a regular income through her embroidery work.
- Personal Joy: She found happiness and fulfilment in doing what she loved.
- Self-Sufficiency: Ila's ability to support herself and gain recognition for her talent gave her a sense of pride and confidence.

Question 4:

Why was the first state exhibition an important event in Ila's life?

Answer 4:

The first state exhibition was crucial because it showcased Ila's talent to a wider audience. It marked the beginning of her public recognition and opened new opportunities for her to participate in more exhibitions at both state and national levels. This exposure helped her gain fame and appreciation for her work, leading to numerous awards and honours.
