Budget Speech 2015 2016 Of South Africa:

Acid Mine Drainage in South Africa Suvania Naidoo,2016-10-13 This SpringerBrief focuses on Acid Mine Drainage AMD in the three basins in the Witwatersrand South Africa It provides a background to AMD and its impacts from a social science perspective The South African government and non governmental organizations response to AMD is assessed as well the socio economic and developmental effects of AMD This volume which is based on the author s Master s dissertation at UNISA involves interviews with a range of experts in the field from government departments environmental organisations activists the private sector mining tourism sector and the agricultural sector The book discusses existing policy documents on AMD and provides recommendations in response to the many socio economic impacts which have not been fully addressed A literature review on the global context of AMD is provided South Africa s water systems are already severely harmed by climate change different forms of pollution and poorly managed sanitation systems For these reasons the country is becoming increasingly water stressed and therefore water will continue to become much scarcer in the future As a result of AMD s continued impact on South Africa s water systems as a technical or scientific matter as well as the policy implications for the mining sector water security and socio economic sustainability has become a highly contested issue

Problematizing the Foreign Shop Gastrow, Vanya,2018-08-03 Small businesses owned by international migrants and refugees are often the target of xenophobic hostility and attack in South Africa This report examines the problematization of migrant owned businesses in South Africa and the regulatory efforts aimed at curtailing their economic activities In so doing it sheds light on the complex ways in which xenophobic fears are generated and manifested in the country s social legal and political orders Efforts to curb migrant spaza shops in South Africa have included informal trade agreements at local levels fining migrant shops and legislation that prohibits asylum seekers from operating businesses in the country Several of these interventions have overlooked the content of local by laws and outed legal frameworks The report concludes that when South African township residents attack migrant spaza shops they are expressing their dissatisfaction with their socio economic conditions to an apprehensive state and political leadership In response governance actors turn on migrant shops to demonstrate their allegiance to these residents to appease South African spaza shopkeepers and to tacitly blame socio economic malaise on perceived foreign forces Overall these actors do not have spaza shops primarily in mind when calling for the stricter regulation of these businesses Instead they are concerned about the volatile support of their key political constituencies and how this backing can be undermined or generated by the symbolic gesture of regulating the foreign shop

Localizing the SDGs in African Cities Sylvia Croese,Susan Parnell,2022-07-19 This volume brings together a unique set of interventions from a variety of contributors to bridge the gap between research and policy with a distinct focus on Africa drawing on work conducted as part of multiple interconnected research projects and networks on the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and global policy implementation in African cities. Through the framework of the SDGs and in particular Goal 11, the book aims to contribute to generating new knowledge about approaches to SDG localization that are grounded in complex and diverse local contexts, needs, and realities, integrated perspectives, and collaborative research. The volume draws together contributions from urban experts from different professional and disciplinary backgrounds ranging from the fields of governance, planning, data, sustainability, health, and finance to provide critical insight into the current dynamics, actors, blind spots, constraints, and also good practices and opportunities for realizing the SDGs in Africa. Readers will gain detailed and informed insight into the African experience of SDG localization, monitoring, and implementation based on multiple case studies and will learn of the practices needed to accelerate action towards achieving the SDGs in urban contexts. This book will be of interest to researchers and planners focusing on SDGs implementation in Africa as well as government organizations, development practitioners, and students committed to long-term inclusive, sustainable, and participatory development. This is an open access book. Chapters 1, 3, 6, 8, 11, and 14 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

Greening the South African Economy Mark Swilling, Josephine Kaviti Musango, Jeremy Wakeford, 2016-02-23. The depletion of South Africa's and in some cases the world's natural resources and the degradation of environmental sinks including the atmosphere, lakes, and rivers and land are continuing at such a rate that natural resource prices are climbing and many critical ecosystem services that underpin human welfare are increasingly threatened. The concept of the green economy has gained increasing traction in South African policy discourses over the past few years. However, in much of this discourse, it is viewed in a piecemeal way as one part or sector of the economy, e.g., an industrial sector dealing with manufacture and installation of renewable energy technologies and energy-efficient equipment and appliances. In the view of the authors, greening the South African economy requires an application of sustainability principles and practices across the full range of primary, secondary, and tertiary sectors of the economy in an integrated manner. The aim of this book is therefore to apply principles of sustainability and green economics to the entire South African socio-economic system and its major elements in an integrated and comprehensive manner.
