Explaining Postconflict Reconstruction Desha M. Girod, 2015 The international community has donated nearly one trillion dollars during the last four decades to reconstruct post conflict countries and prevent the outbreak of more civil war Yet reconstruction has eluded many of these countries and 19 million people have been killed in reignited conflict Where did the money go This book documents how some leaders do bring about remarkable reconstruction of their countries using foreign aid but many other post conflict leaders fail to do so Offering a global argument that is the first of its kind Desha Girod explains that post conflict leaders are more likely to invest aid in reconstruction when they are desperate for income and thus depend on aid that comes with reconstruction strings attached Leaders are desperate for income when they lack access to rents from natural resources or to aid from donors with strategic interests in the country Using data on civil wars that ended between 1970 and 2009 and evidence both from countries that succeeded and from countries that failed at post conflict reconstruction Girod carefully examines the argument from different perspectives and finds support for it The findings are important for theory and policy because they explain why only some leaders have the political will to meet donor goals in the wake of civil war The findings also shed light on state building processes and on the political economy of postconflict countries Paradoxically donors are most likely to achieve reconstruction goals in countries where they have the least at stake

Horký-Hluchán,2015-08-03 The book provides a comprehensive analysis of the international development policies of ten Central and Eastern European countries that joined the EU between 2004 and 2007 The contributors offer the first thorough overview of the new EU member states development cooperation programmes placing them in a larger political and societal context Impact of Lipid Peroxidation on the Physiology and Pathophysiology of Cell Membranes Angel

Catalá,Mario Díaz,2017-01-17 The general process of lipid peroxidation consists of three stages initiation propagation and termination The initiation phase of lipid peroxidation includes hydrogen atom abstraction Several species can abstract the first hydrogen atom and include the radicals hydroxyl alkoxyl peroxy and possibly HO₂ The membrane lipids mainly phospholipids containing polyunsaturated fatty acids are predominantly susceptible to peroxidation because abstraction from a methylene group of a hydrogen atom which contains only one electron leaves at the back an unpaired electron on the carbon The initial reaction of OH with polyunsaturated fatty acids produces a lipid radical L which in turn reacts with molecular oxygen to form a lipid hydroperoxide LOOH Further the LOOH formed can suffer reductive cleavage by reduced metals such as Fe producing lipid alkoxyl radical LO Peroxidation of lipids can disturb the assembly of the membrane causing changes in fluidity and permeability alterations of ion transport and inhibition of metabolic processes In addition LOOH can break down frequently in the presence of reduced metals or ascorbate to reactive aldehyde products including malondialdehyde MDA 4 hydroxy 2 nonenal HNE 4 hydroxy 2 hexenal 4 HHE and acrolein Lipid peroxidation is one of the major outcomes of free radical mediated injury to tissue mainly because it can greatly alter the physicochemical properties of membrane lipid bilayers resulting in severe cellular dysfunction In addition a variety of lipid by products are produced as a consequence of lipid peroxidation some of which can exert beneficial biological effects under normal physiological conditions Intensive research performed over the last decades have also revealed that by products of lipid peroxidation are also involved in cellular signalling and transduction pathways under physiological conditions and regulate a variety of cellular functions including normal aging In the present collection of articles both aspects adverse and beneficial of lipid peroxidation are illustrated in different biological paradigms We expect this eBook may encourage readers to expand the current knowledge on the complexity of physiological and pathophysiological roles of lipid peroxidation Staple Security Jessica

Barnes,2022-08-08 Egyptians often say that bread is life most eat this staple multiple times a day many relying on the cheap bread subsidized by the government In Staple Security Jessica Barnes explores the process of sourcing domestic and foreign wheat for the production of bread and its consumption across urban and rural settings She traces the anxiety that pervades Egyptian society surrounding the possibility that the nation could run out of wheat or that people might not have enough good bread to eat and the daily efforts to ensure that this does not happen With rich ethnographic detail she takes us into the worlds of cultivating wheat trading grain and baking buying and eating bread Linking global flows of grain and a national bread subsidy program with everyday household practices Barnes theorizes the nexus between food and security drawing attention to staples and the lengths to which people go to secure their consistent availability and quality Assessment

Approaches to Support Bycatch Management for Marine Mammals Tessa Francis,Jeff Moore,Andre Eric Punt,Randall Reeves,2022-06-21 Bordering Professor Anders Linde-Laursen,2012-11-28 What is a border This seemingly simple question is here answered via a multidisciplinary study of the cultural geographic and historic existence of borders and the ways that they have shaped our world Using the Danish Swedish border to illustrate the actions of groups and individuals engaged in bordering since the 1600s this richly theoretical discussion highlights the complexities of political and cultural identity processes Comparative perspectives are brought together to produce a thoughtful analysis of how such processes function and of how borders work on both an imagined nationhood and experiential personal level The author also examines how throughout history people have lived with and influenced or been influenced by borders why some borders remain uncontested while others repeatedly provoke cross border conflicts and how today s bordering processes may be deliberately manipulated
