resulted in the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920s then reemerged transformed in the 1930s as the Black Chicago Renaissance. The authors in this volume argue that beginning in the 1930s and lasting into the 1950s Black Chicago experienced a cultural renaissance that rivaled the cultural outpouring in Harlem. The Black Chicago Renaissance however has not received its full due. This book addresses that neglect. Like Harlem, Chicago had become a major destination for black southern migrants. Unlike Harlem, it was also an urban industrial center that gave a unique working class and internationalist perspective to the cultural work that took place here. The contributors to Black Chicago Renaissance analyze a prolific period of African American creativity in music, performance art, social science scholarship, and visual and literary artistic expression. Each author discusses forces that distinguished and link the Black Chicago Renaissance to the Harlem Renaissance as well as placing the development of black culture in a national and international context by probing the histories of multiple sequential and overlapping Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, Memphis black renaissances. Among the topics discussed in this volume are Chicago writers Gwendolyn Brooks and Richard Wright, The Chicago Defender, and Tivoli Theater. African American music and visual arts as well as the American Negro Exposition of 1940. African American Lives

Henry Louis Gates, Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, 2004-04-29. The first book of its kind since 1982's Dictionary of American Negro Biography, African American Lives leads us into a new era of African American biographical scholarship. In collaboration with Oxford University Press and the American Council of Learned Societies and with contributions from over four hundred scholars and experts in many fields, the editors and their staff at the W. E. B. Du Bois Institute for African and African American Research at Harvard University have collected in this single volume the lives of many of the most important and most interesting names in African American history. BOOK JACKET Along the Streets of Bronzeville. Elizabeth Schroeder Schlabach, 2012-09-15. Along the Streets of Bronzeville examines the flowering of African American creativity, activism, and scholarship in the South Side Chicago district known as Bronzeville during the period between the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920s and the Black Arts Movement of the 1960s. Poverty-stricken, segregated, and bursting at the seams with migrants, Bronzeville was the community that provided inspiration, training, and work for an entire generation of diversely talented African American authors and artists who came of age during the years between the two world wars. In this significant recovery project, Elizabeth Schroeder Schlabach investigates the institutions and streetscapes of Black Chicago that fueled an entire literary and artistic movement. She argues that African American authors and artists such as Gwendolyn Brooks, Richard Wright, Langston Hughes, painter Archibald Motley, and many others viewed and presented black reality from a specific geographic vantage point: the view along the streets of Bronzeville. Schlabach explores how the particular rhythms and scenes of daily life in Bronzeville locations such as the State Street Stroll district or the bustling intersection of 47th Street and South Parkway figured into the creative works and experiences of the artists and writers of the Black Chicago Renaissance. She also covers in detail the South Side Community Art Center and the South Side Writers Group. two institutions of art and literature that engendered a unique aesthetic consciousness and political ideology for which the Black Chicago Renaissance would garner much fame Life in Bronzeville also involved economic hardship and social injustice themes that resonated throughout the flourishing arts scene Schlabach explores Bronzeville's harsh living conditions exemplified in the cramped one bedroom kitchenette apartments that housed many of the migrants drawn to the city's promises of opportunity and freedom Many struggled with the precariousness of urban life and Schlabach shows how the once vibrant neighborhood eventually succumbed to the pressures of segregation and economic disparity Providing a virtual tour South Side African American urban life at street level Along the Streets of Bronzeville charts the complex interplay and intersection of race geography and cultural criticism during the Black Chicago Renaissance's rise and fall Encyclopedia of Women's Autobiography: A-J Victoria Boynton, Jo Malin, 2005 Contains nearly two hundred alphabetically arranged entries that provide information on women's autobiography covering selected authors from throughout history major works nationalities or ethnicities and related issues themes and terms The African American National Biography Henry Louis Gates, Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, 2008 An 8 volume reference set containing over 4 000 entries written by distinguished scholars The African American National Biography is the most significant and expansive compilation of black lives in print today Look to the Light Sisters MARIAN OLIVIA HEATH GRIFFIN, 2020-07-02 African American Women wish to tell their valuable authentic stories even when they are not perfect They leave their legacy of life as they helped to shape the American history tradition culture economics and ideals They have added much more and played a definitive role in shaping the growth and development of our nation Their awe inspiring achievements and accomplishments with intelligence dignity and love have overcome incredible hardships and have had very little to sustain them but their faith determination and courage Many times they have set the standards for outstanding amazing stories of their own lives and enhanced the lives of others
