Kangra Fort and its Laxminarayan temple

Chittorgarh, the oldest surviving fort, is said to have been constructed by the Mor kings between the 5th and the 8th centuries and is named after one of them, Chitrangada Mori, as inscribed on the coins of the period. The fort complex comprises 65 historic built structures, among them four palace complexes, nineteen main temples, four memorials and twenty functional water bodies. The first hill fort with one main entrance

A Survey Of Medieval Model S:

   The Use of Models in Medieval Book Painting Monika E. Müller,2014-06-02 Until recently the phenomenon of copying in medieval book painting has been considered mainly in terms of the reconstruction of pictorial sources used for the composition or iconography of miniatures initials or decorative elements Although historic sources only rarely mention the circumstances of manuscripts production one particular widely accepted hypothesis has prevailed until now according to which artists used model drawings or sketch books with the aim of facilitating the production of copies and the creation of new picture cycles However it is no longer sufficient to regard medieval book painting in its diachronic dimension only through these lenses Rather one should consider Robert W Scheller s critique that When using the model hypothesis one must always be mindful of other factors which are known to have played a part in the transmission of art in the Middle Ages The contributions of this volume deal with these issues by focusing on book painting between the 10th and 16th centuries

   Maps of Medieval Thought Naomi Reed Kline,2003 Mappa mundi texts and images present a panorama of the medieval world view c 1300 the Hereford map studied in close detail Filled with information and lore mappae mundi present an encyclopaedic panorama of the conceptual landscape of the middle ages Previously objects of study for cartographers and geographers the value of medieval maps to scholars in other fields is now recognised and this book written from an art historical perspective illuminates the medieval view of the world represented in a group of maps of c 1300 Naomi Kline s detailed examination of the literary visual oral and textual evidence of the Hereford mappa mundi and others like it such as the Psalter Maps the Sawley Map and the Ebstorf Map places them within the larger context of medieval art and intellectual history The mappa mundi in Hereford cathedral is at the heart of this study it has more than one thousand texts and images of geographical subjects monuments animals plants peoples biblical sites and incidents legendary material historical information and much more distinctions between real and fantastic are fluid time and space are telescoped presenting past present and future Naomi Kline provides for the first time a full and detailed analysis of the images and texts of the Hereford map which thus deciphered allow comparison with related mappae mundi as well as with other texts and images NAOMI REED KLINE is Professor of Art History at Plymouth State College   Surface Models for Geosciences Kateřina Růžičková,Tomáš Inspektor,2015-05-27 The aim of the conference is to present and discuss new methods issues and challenges encountered in all parts of the complex process of gradual development and application of digital surface models This process covers data capture data generation storage model creation validation manipulation utilization and visualization Each stage requires suitable methods and involves issues that may substantially decrease the value of the model Furthermore the conference provides a platform to discuss the requirements features and research approaches for 3D modeling continuous field modeling and other geoscience applications The conference covers the following topics LIDAR for elevation data Radar interferometry for elevation data Surface model creation Surface model statistics Surface model storage including data formats standardization database Feature extraction Analysis of surface models Surface models for hydrology meteorology climatology Surface models for signal spreading Surface models for geology structural mining Surface models for environmental science Surface models for visibility studies Surface models for urban geography Surface models for human geography Uncertainty of surface models and digital terrain analysis Surface model visual enhancement and rendering Models in Archaeology David L. Clarke,2014-10-24 This major study reflects the increasing significance of careful model formation and testing in those academic subjects that are struggling from intuitive and aesthetic obscurantism toward a more disciplined and integrated approach to their fields of study The twenty six original contributions represent the carefully selected work of progressive archaeologists around the world covering the use of models on archaeological material of all kinds and from all periods from Palaeolithic to Medieval Their common theme is archaeological generalisation by means of explicit model building testing modification and reapplication The contributors seek to show that it is the use of certain models in particular ways that defines archaeology as the practice of one discipline with a set of general tenets that are as applicable in Peru as in Persia Australia as Alaska Sweden as Scotland on material from the second millennium B C to the second millennium A D They assert that careful model formulation within archaeology and the cautious exchange and testing of models within and beyond the discipline provides the only route to the formation of the common internationally valid body of theory which defines a vigorous and coherent discipline and distinguishes it from being a collection of merely regionally applicable special cases Companion to Medieval and Renaissance Music Tess Knighton,David Fallows,1997 With contributions from a range of internationally known early music scholars and performers Tess Knighton and David Fallows provide a lively new survey of music and culture in Europe from the beginning of the Christian era to 1600 Fifty essays comment on the social historical theoretical and performance contexts of the music and musicians of the period to offer fresh perspectives on musical styles research sources and performance practices of the medieval and Renaissance periods Graphic Horizons Luis Hermida González,João Pedro Xavier,Jose Pedro Sousa,Vicente López-Chao,2024-03-29 This book reports on several advances in architectural graphics with a special emphasis on education training and research It gathers a selection of contributions to the 20th International Congress of Architectural Graphic Expression EGA 2024 held on May 27 29 2024 in Porto Portugal with the motto Graphic Horizons This is the first of a 3 volume set Essays on Medieval Computational Astronomy José Chabás Bergón,Bernard R. Goldstein,2014-11-13 During the Middle Ages and early modern times tables were a most successful and economical way to present mathematical procedures and astronomical models and to facilitate computations Before the sixteenth century astronomical models introduced by Ptolemy in Antiquity were rarely challenged and innovation consisted in elaborating new methods for calculating planetary positions and other celestial phenomena Essays on Medieval Computational Astronomy includes twelve articles that focus on astronomical tables offering many examples where the meaning and purpose of such tables has been determined by careful analysis In evaluating the work of medieval scholars we are mindful of the importance of applying criteria consistent with their own time which may be different from those appropriate for other periods   A Companion to Angels in Medieval Philosophy Tobias Hoffmann,2012-08-03 This book studies medieval theories of angelology insofar as they made groundbreaking contributions to medieval philosophy It centers on the period from Bonaventure to Ockham while also discussing some original positions by earlier thinkers   Science in Medieval Jewish Cultures Gad Freudenthal,2011 Science in Medieval Jewish Cultures provides the first comprehensive overview by world renowned experts of what we know today of medieval Jews engagement with the sciences Many medieval Jews whether living in Islamic or Christian civilizations joined Maimonides in accepting the rationalist philosophical scientific tradition and appropriated extensive bodies of scientific knowledge in various disciplines astronomy astrology mathematics logic physics meteorology biology psychology science of language and medicine The appropriated texts in the original or in Hebrew translation were the starting points for Jews own contributions to medieval science and also informed other literary genres religious philosophical works biblical commentaries and even Halakhic legal discussions This volume s essays will provide readers with background knowledge of medieval scientific thought necessary to properly understand canonical Jewish scientific texts Its breadth reflects the number and diversity of Jewish cultures in the Middle Ages and the necessity of considering the fortunes of science in each within its specific context   Perception and Action in Medieval Europe Harald Kleinschmidt,2005 Study of the changing nature of the perception of an action and the action itself and how thought processes altered radically in the middle ages Can dancers dance for a year and a day without drinking eating and sleeping Can pictures be made to speak to their viewers Can lavender purify the soul The modern mind regards it as impossible and simply regards reports that these things happened as typical of the fantastic Middle Ages In his new book however Harald Kleinschmidt argues that we should not be so swift to dismiss such matters In this thought provoking study of the logic of perception and action behind these and other stories and of the history of the five senses he argues that modern Western rationalism is peculiar in seeing an opposition between perceivers and the targets of their curiosity actors and their environments or in general terms subject and object Instead he shows that whether active or passive people saw their deeds as correlated and mutually dependent Using a wide range of textual and pictorial sources he goeson to demonstrate that the assumption of an opposition between subject and object resulted from fundamental changes of standards of perception and patterns of action that took place during the Middle Ages resulting in the emergence of a new rationalism HARALD KLEINSCHMIDT teaches in the College of International Studies at the University of Tsukuba Japan

   People of the Image Marc Michael Epstein,2025-06-24 The Middle Ages provide us with one of the richest repositories of art in the West Yet the rise in the production of art made for and by Jews especially in the form of illuminated manuscripts is often neglected in general surveys or viewed as a mere emulation of Christian art during this period In People of the Image Marc Michael Epstein demonstrates how medieval Jews transformed their visual art into a vital site of critical commentary

Through bold speculation and radical interpretation Epstein considers how viewers might have empathized with depicted emotions how they envisioned the relationship between the monstrous and the human and how they could effectively perpetrate subversive acts merely by anticipating what might occur next in a given image were it to be set in motion Examining these artworks and imagining the circumstances of their production and reception Epstein uncovers otherwise inaccessible social political and theological perceptions among Europe s major medieval minority He goes on to illuminate the afterlives of medieval Jewish art in its reimaginings by postmodern Jews struggling to establish a conceptual as well as a political space for themselves as a minority in majority Christian society Bringing together diverse currents from various fields and bodies of literature People of the Image reveals how medieval Jews understood themselves the world and God Provocative and engagingly written the book will appeal to audiences across medieval studies cultural studies art history and Jewish studies Three Medieval Rhetorical Arts James Jerome Murphy,1985 This volume presents three medieval treatises on speaking and writing three Arts books designed by their authors to assist their colleagues in the preparation of poems letters hymns sermons or any other kind of composition Cognitive Models of Science Ronald N. Giere,1992 This work resulted from a workshop on the implications of the cognitive sciences for the philosophy of science held under the auspices of the Minnesota Center for Philosophy of Science The workshop s theme was that the cognitive sciences identified for the purposes of this project with three disciplinary clusters artificial intelligence cognitive psychology and cognitive neuroscience have reached sufficient maturity that they are now a valuable resource for philosophers of science who are developing general theories of science as a human activity The emergence of cognitive science has by no means escaped the notice of philosophers or philosophers of science Within the philosophy of science one can detect an emerging speciality the philosophy of cognitive science which would be parallel to such specialities as the philosophy of physics or the philosophy of biology But the reverse is also happening That is the cognitive sciences are beginning to have a considerable impact on the content and methods of philosophy particularly the philosophy of language and the philosophy of mind but also on epistemology The underlying hope is that the cognitive sciences might now come to play the sort of role within the philosophy of science that formal logic played for logical empiricism or that history of science played for the historical school This development might permit the philosophy of science as a whole finally to move beyond the opposition between logical and historical approaches that has characterized the field since the 1960s Ronald N Giere is Professor of Philosophy and Director of the Minnesota Center for Philosophy of Science at the University of Minnesota Masons, Tricksters and Cartographers David Turnbull,2003-09-02 In an eclectic and highly original study Turnbull brings together traditions as diverse as cathedral building Micronesian navigation cartography and turbulence research He argues that all our differing ways of producing knowledge including science are messy spatial and local Every culture has its own ways of assembling local knowledge thereby creating space thrugh the linking of people practices and places The spaces we inhabit and assemblages we work with are not as homogenous and coherent as our modernist perspectives have led us to believe rather they are complex and heterogeneous motleys Catalogue of the Pepys Library at Magdalene College, Cambridge Pepys Library (Cambridge),Pepys Library Cambridge,1978 Routledge Revivals: Medieval Archaeology (2001) Pam J.
