Cognition and Interaction: From Computers to Smart Objects and Autonomous Agents Amon Rapp, Maurizio Tirassa, Tom Ziemke, 2019-10-10 Cognitive sciences have been involved under numerous accounts to explain how humans interact with technology as well as to design technological instruments tailored to human needs As technological advancements in fields like wearable and ubiquitous computing virtual reality robotics and artificial intelligence are presenting novel modalities for interacting with technology there are opportunities for deepening exploring and even rethinking the theoretical foundations of human technology use This volume entitled Cognition and Interaction From Computers to Smart Objects and Autonomous Agents is a collection of articles on the impacts that novel 3 September Frontiers in Psychology 2019 Cognition and Interaction interactive technologies are producing on individuals It puts together 17 works spanning from research on social cognition in human robot interaction to studies on neural changes triggered by Internet use that tackle relevant technological and theoretical issues in human computer interaction encouraging us to rethink how we conceptualize technology its use and development The volume addresses fundamental issues at different levels The first part revolves around the biological impacts that technologies are producing on our bodies and brains The second part focuses on the psychological level exploring how our psychological characteristics may affect the way we use understand and perceive technology as well as how technology is changing our cognition The third part addresses relevant theoretical problems presenting reflections that aim to reframe how we conceptualize ourselves technology and interaction itself Finally the last part of the volume pays attention to the factors involved in the design of technological artifacts providing suggestions on how we can develop novel technologies closer to human needs Overall it appears that human computer interaction will have to face a variety of challenges to account for the rapid changes we are witnessing in the current technology landscape The Early Information Society Alistair Black,Dave Muddiman,2016-03-23 Whether termed the network society the knowledge society or the information society it is widely accepted that a new age has dawned unveiled by powerful computer and communication technologies Yet for millennia humans have been recording knowledge and culture engaging in the dissemination and preservation of information In The Early Information Society the authors argue for an earlier incarnation of the information age focusing upon the period 1900 1960 In support of this they examine the history and traditions in Britain of two separate but related information rich occupations information management and information science repositioning their origins before the age of the computer and identifying the forces driving their early development The Early Information Society offers an historical account which questions the novelty of the current information society It will be essential reading for students researchers and practitioners in the library and information science field and for sociologists and historians interested in the information society

Pavlovian-Instrumental Transfer: Neurobehavioral and Clinical Findings Vincent Laurent,Vincent D. Campese,2023-04-05 Cognition and Addiction Antonio Verdejo García,2019-09-29 Cognition and Addiction A Researcher s Guide from Mechanisms Towards Interventions provides researchers with a guide to recent cognitive neuroscience advances in addiction theory phenotyping treatments and new vistas including both substance and behavioral addictions This book focuses on what to know and how to apply information prioritizing novel principles and delineating cutting edge assessment phenotyping and treatment tools Written by world renowned researcher Antonio Verdejo Garcia this resource will become a go to guide for researchers in the field of cognitive neuroscience and addiction Examines cognitive neuroscience advances in addiction theory including both substance and behavioral addictions Discusses primary principles of cutting edge assessment phenotyping and treatment tools Includes detailed chapters on neuro epidemiology and genetic imaging Integrative Sport and Exercise Nutrition Ian Craig,Justin Roberts,2025-09-17 Integrative Sport and Exercise Nutrition A Health Feeds Performance Perspective defines health as an underpinning requirement for active pursuit and sporting performance By focusing on the empowerment of scientists and practitioners who support such individuals this new textbook powerfully disseminates academic and experiential knowledge in a thoroughly applied context The prevailing paradigm that has existed within the academic enquiry of sports nutrition has typically viewed macronutrients as fuel for exercise endeavours While this notion provides a basis of quantitative nutritional support what happens when our active individual lacks adequate digestive health to assimilate these foods and in the process creates an inflammatory tone in their body And what happens when our aspiring athlete is genetically not suited to the diet that is prescribed by the sports nutritionist which is based merely on the energetic needs of their sport The underlying aim of Integrative Sport and Exercise Nutrition is to encourage sport exercise and nutrition professionals academics and students to embrace the physiological complexity and individuality of an exercising person This approach highlights the need to go beyond traditional macronutrient approaches dominant in this field and consider how our food impacts physiological health from an integrative body systems perspective Within the context of heavy training loads often alongside significant life stressors such practitioners can support the robust health and performance requirements of active individuals This cutting edge book thereby brings together the scientific voice of academics with the real world experience of nutrition and exercise practitioners and by doing so the authors wish to stimulate a new paradigm of thought towards integrative and personalised thinking in sport and exercise
