Art Science Religion Spirituality Seeking Wisdom And Harmony For A Fulfilling Life:

Art, Science, Religion, Spirituality David V White, 2015-05-02 Retiring at the age of 35 gives one time to reflect on what is truly important After successful ventures in business politics and education I devoted several years to study travel and spiritual practice Meaningful experiences came and insights arose Further insights emerged through interactions with participants in seminars and workshops given over the last twenty years One insight is this We tend to compartmentalize our lives thinking separately about relationships finances health concerns spiritual matters career sex values passions goals political views group identities finding pleasure aesthetic interests and on and on At the living edge however where life happens all these currents mingle and merge To find meaning and live a fulfilling life requires that we discover how these separate currents can be prioritized and harmoniously integrated The core motivations we humans have felt through the centuries have not changed much The challenge is as it has always been to discover and put into practice wise responses to these motivations In ancient Greece the quest for this wisdom was exemplified by the admonition of Socrates Know Thyself Two thousand years later mathematician physicist and philosopher Blaise Pascal said It is an extraordinary blindness to live without investigating what we are Continuing this theme in the 20th century the humorist James Thurber advised All human beings should try to learn before they die what they are running from and to and why Four of the most valuable trails through the wilderness of life s confusion are 1 Engagement with science 2 Creating and experiencing art 3 Following a religious tradition and 4 Undertaking a spiritual journey Although different on the surface these four are not so different underneath As Albert Einstein succinctly put it All religions arts and sciences are branches of the same tree This book explores these four branches of the tree of life art science religion and spirituality Join me in an exploration of the commonalities between them and the guidance they each provide for a fulfilling and meaningful life EINSTEIN ON LIFE

Philosophy of Education Malcolm D. Evans,1998 That process philosophy can be the foundation of the theory and practice of educating human beings is the main argument of this book The process philosophy of Alfred North Whitehead 1861 1947 is the particular thinking on which this book is based Readers are shown that Whitehead s process philosophy provides a frame a conceptual matrix that addresses their concerns about education and offers direction for their educative acts Whitehead theorized that all living entities are connected in some way Relatedness connectedness and holism are recurring themes in this exploration of Whitehead s implied philosophy of education Whitehead never wrote a philosophy of education but his writings over a period of nearly thirty years reveal a persistent interest and concern with education His work ranging from Introduction to Mathematics 1911 to Adventures of Ideas 1938 is drawn on here to construct not Whitehead s philosophy of education but a Whiteheadian philosophy of education Whitehead and Philosophy of Education brings to scholars and students of education an understanding of Whitehead as an important figure in philosophy particularly philosophy of education an acquaintance with process philosophy a brief treatment of Whitehead s life and an account of events and experiences that influenced his philosophizing and an exploration of the educationally salient concepts found in Whitehead's formal and informal philosophy with special attention to Whitehead's ideas about creativity process rhythm wisdom and knowledge Whitehead writes of phases of the rhythm of education romance precision and generalization The book is organized with attention to these three phases Part One Romance introduces readers to Whitehead the person and the change of context for educating from a mechanistic world view to an organismic one Part Two Precision examines Whitehead's writings as they relate to process philosophy and to educating Part Three Generalization is an application of the explorations of Parts One and Two yielding a construction of a Whiteheadian philosophy of education and suggestions for educational practice

Shapiro, Sharad Chandra, Shannon Kelly, 2004-12-24 The universality of world religions is certainly a subject of interest in these engaging and pivotal times and one that is treated multi dimensionally in this issue of Nectar Nectar of Nondual Truth has for three years attempted to present this principle by offering articles from writers and practitioners who are deeply ensconced in and in love with their chosen path and ideal and can therefore express the one indivisible Truth via their own deeply cherished stream of Wisdom This is crucial the practice of one tradition until realization through that single pathway has been achieved in order to avoid confusion contradiction misperception and the surface understanding that usually accompanies a mere eclectic point of view devoid of penetrating and longevitous spiritual practice The well guided expansion of the limited human mind is likened to raising a family wherein different children must each be given special attention based upon comprehension of their differing needs capacities and temperaments But before all this is attempted the first born must be attended to and then all the resultant growth in terms of challenges mistakes successes and valuable insights into child rearing can thus be applied to the raising of those who come after Wherever the first born is neglected or followed too soon by other siblings thus falling into the background of the overburdened parent s full attention malnutrition on several levels occurs and the valuable developmental stages of early growth are stripped of their power and purpose resulting in a stunted condition a life shorn of its fullest possibilities and potentials This unfortunate outcome in the individual family unit is mirrored by the undernourished spiritual life of contemporary living beings in general due not only to their own debilitating complacency around purificatory practices but also due to their lack of appreciation their ambivalence and even their hostility towards the sacred traditions of the world religions adhered to by the same selfed brothers and sisters of the multifarious but inseparable family of mankind On the other hand after sincere and one pointed commitment to Truth is attained followed up by a firm dedication to one s path a sedulous practice and an unswerving devotion to God and Guru all constantly cultivated the onset of spiritual maturation will occur as a matter of course *Report of Proceedings of the ...
