Motulsky, Jo Ann Gammel, Amy Rutstein-Riley, 2021-01-01 Learning and identity development are lifetime processes of becoming The construction of self of interest to scholars and practitioners in adult development and adult learning is an ongoing process with the self both forming and being formed by lived experience in privileged and oppressive contexts Intersecting identities and the power dynamics within them shape how learners define themselves and others and how they make meaning of their experiences in the world The series I Am What I Become Constructing Identities as Lifelong Learners is an insightful and diverse collection of empirical research and narrative essays in identity development adult development and adult learning The purpose of this series is to publish contributions that highlight the intimate and intricate connections between learning and identity The series aims to assist our readers to understand and nurture adults who are always in the process of becoming We hope to promote reflection and research at the intersection of identity and adult learning at any point across the adult lifespan The rich array of qualitative research designs as well as autobiographic and narrative essays transform and expand our understanding of the lived experience of people both like us and unlike us from the U S and beyond Identity and Lifelong Learning Becoming through Lived Experience Volume Two of the series focuses on identity and learning within informal settings and life experiences The contributions showcase the many ways that identity development and learning occur within cultural domains through developmental and identity challenges or transitions in career or role and in a variety of places from assisted living facilities to makerspaces These chapters highlight identity and learning across the adult lifespan from millennials and emerging adults to midlife and older adults The authors examine cultural relational and social identity exploration and learning in international contexts and within marginalized communities This volume features phenomenological and ethnographic qualitative studies autoethnographies case studies and narratives that engage the reader in the myriad ways that adult development learning and identity connect and influence each other Praise for Identity and Lifelong Learning Becoming Through Lived Experience We all pay lip service to the importance of lifelong learning but what is it exactly and how does it come about The connections between identity and learning are intriguing and complex especially when it comes to adult learners In this very thoughtfully organized collection researchers present qualitative and narrative studies along with personal narratives to explore identity development in formal and informal learning environments Contributions from varied cultural contexts most with powerful and moving stories to tell provide insight into how identity meaning making and adult learning and development intersect and influence each other Psychologists scholars and educators interested in identity development and meaning making will find inspiration and fresh understanding in this innovative and enlightening series Ruthellen Josselson Author of Paths to Fulfillment Women s Search for Meaning and Identity This innovative series on adult development is inspiring and substantive We hear voices from the margins and stories of courage We read identity formation narratives by young adults and experienced professionals who share impressive capacities for transparency vulnerability and self reflection Many of the narratives are embedded in rigorous qualitative research that highlights diverse ways that identity is shaped through social positionality lived experience the quest for individuation and willingness to encounter life as a dynamic learning process Jared D Kass Lesley University Author of A Person Centered Approach to Psychospiritual Maturation Mentoring Psychological Resilience and Inclusive Community in Higher Education Geriatric Care in Advanced Societies J.C Brocklehurst,2012-12-06 Nursing and Empire Sujani K. Reddy,2015-09-10 In this rich interdisciplinary study Sujani Reddy examines the consequential lives of Indian nurses whose careers have unfolded in the contexts of empire migration familial relations race and gender As Reddy shows the nursing profession developed in India against a complex backdrop of British and U S imperialism After World War II facing limited vocational options at home a growing number of female nurses migrated from India to the United States during the Cold War Complicating the long held view of Indian women as passive participants in the movement of skilled labor in this period Reddy demonstrates how these women in the lead pursued new opportunities afforded by their mobility At the same time

Indian nurses also confronted stigmas based on the nature of their women's work, the religious and caste differences within the migrant community, and the racial and gender hierarchies of the United States. Drawing on extensive archival research and compelling life history interviews, Reddy redraws the map of gender and labor history, suggesting how powerful global forces have played out in the personal and working lives of professional Indian women.
