the early 1900s Imagine taking off in a two seater plane and narrowly avoiding a zebra My impression was confirmed the more I read Markham was clearly a woman who lived in a completely different world than I do in 21st century America She bred championship racehorses She flew planes into remote parts of Africa And she managed to write about it without a hint of boasting Her writing is simple and honest No less a writer than Ernest Hemingway a friend of Markham s praised the book as bloody wonderful in a letter to Maxwell Perkins as cited on the back cover of the 1983 edition of West with the Night Markham s account showed me that life is meant to be lived to the full Taking risks and trying new things is what gives life its savor Telling other s about one s adventures allows them to savor them too

MEET THE AUTHOR Laura Brestovansky has more than 20 years of writing editing proofreading experience including blogs e books articles brochures press releases and more Currently she is also the public relations liaison for Caregivers Professional Resources www.cprmich.com whose duties include writing the CPR Airway blog She has written on a number of topics including health care home improvement travel religion and social issues She graduated with honors from Eastern Michigan University majoring in journalism and political science When she s not on the computer whether writing editing or surfing she s spending time with her husband and three children possibly biking or hiking with them or watching a classic movie

EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK West With the Night is Beryl Markham s memoir of her life in British East Africa Kenya She was a racehorse breeder bush pilot and the first woman to fly across the Atlantic from east to west The book begins with Markham s review of an old flight logbook which sets the scene for the entire book British East Africa in the 1930s Once setting the scene she recounts her journey to deliver oxygen to a sick minor a job to be done at an uncomfortable hour with sleep in my eyes and a half a grumble on my lips While the flight itself is routine Markham flies with the knowledge that a friend and fellow pilot is missing in the Serengeti

West with the Night Beryl Markham,1984 West with the Night is the story of Beryl Markham aviator racehorse trainer beauty and her life in the Kenya of the 1920s and 30s

West with the Night Beryl Markham,1983-05 For use in schools and libraries only Describes growing up in an Africa that no longer exists training and breeding race horses flying mail to Sudan and being the first woman to fly the Atlantic east to west

West with the Night Beryl Markham,1984 Beryl Markham moved to Kenya with her father at the age of four and stayed until her death in 1986 Her incredible autobiography describes the Africa she learnt to love her childhood surrounded by the tribal people her tangles often nearly fatal with its wild animals and her passions for racehorses and aeroplanes Markham achieved notoriety and success as a horse trainer when one of her horses won the most prestigious race in Kenya She turned her hand to aeroplanes with Denys Finch Hatton the lover of Karen Blixen as a teacher and became the first woman in Kenya to receive a commercial pilot s licence Her adventures and courageous career as a bush pilot are recounted in vivid detail here along with the richness and fascination of life in Kenya in the twenties and thirties

but there are a hundred places to start and a hundred names I can begin by choosing one of them not because it is first or of any importance in a wildly adventurous sense but because it is turned uppermost in my logbook 2 Nungwe was a town that lay west and south of Nairobi on the southernmost rim of Lake Victoria Nyanza It was barely alive when I went there in 1935 It was a Mecca for gold miners who had begun to dig there 3 Nairobi was a gateway to a new country and it was growing quickly It was a place of shillings and pounds and land sales and trade extraordinary successes and failures Its shops sold whatever you needed to buy 4 Africa is a land full of mysteries wildness and heat It is a photographer's paradise a hunter's Valhalla and an escapist's Utopia It is what you want it to be and it withstands all interpretations It is the last vestige of a dead world or the cradle of a shiny new one

Insights from Book Translations on the International Diffusion of Knowledge Isabelle Yin Fong Sin, 2011 Increases in the stock of ideas possessed by societies are central to modern economic growth The implications of idea flows are striking Klenow and Rodriguez Clare 2005 estimate world production would be just 6% of its current level if countries did not share ideas Yet although theoretical economists have studied ideas and their diffusion extensively empirical studies are scarce because ideas are inherently difficult to measure Previous empirical studies of idea flows have tended to use proxies such as trade flows foreign direct investment migration and patent citations However with the exception of the latter these measures are not pure idea flows and do not capture the key properties of ideas namely non rivalry and disembodiedness My research proposes a novel measure of idea flows namely book translations and uses it to study the factors that affect the international diffusion of ideas Book translations are an attractive way to quantify idea flows because they are both non rival and disembodied they are a pure measure of idea flows rather than a by product of a process such as trade or migration and their key purpose is to make the ideas contained in the book accessible to speakers of another language In chapter 2 I outline the economics literature on ideas and their diffusion I motivate and discuss book translations as a measure of idea flows and provide a framework for thinking about when translations are likely to occur I describe the translation data in chapter 3 The source of the data is an international bibliography of translations collected by the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization From this bibliography I compile a data set of over 2 million translations published in 80 countries since the 1949 including detailed information on each title translated I then document the main patterns of translation flows In chapter 4 I employ a gravity framework to study how distance affects translation flows between countries This sheds light both on the barriers to international idea diffusion and on the underlying causes of the negative relationship between distance and trade Translations differ from trade in that they have zero transportation costs but they are subject to similar search and information costs and costs of forming contracts I estimate a gravity model where bilateral translation flows vary with the sizes of the countries and the distance between them and find the elasticity of translations with respect to distance to be between 0.3 and 0.5 for the 1990s these values are significantly smaller than the equivalent elasticity for trade found in the literature suggesting a significant role for transportation costs in the distance effect on trade. In addition I present several pieces of evidence that suggest supply side frictions play a larger role in the distance effect on translations than do consumer preferences. For instance the speed with which titles are translated which is likely to largely capture supply frictions as opposed to demand factors decreases significantly with distance. Finally in joint work with Ran Abramitzky chapter 5 I study how the collapse of the Communist regime in Eastern Europe at the close of the 1980s affected the international diffusion of ideas. We show that while translations between Communist languages decreased by two thirds with the collapse Western to Communist translations increased by a factor of seven and reached Western levels. Convergence was full in economically beneficial fields such as sciences and only partial in culturally beneficial fields such as history. The effects were larger for more Western oriented countries. These findings help us understand how institutions shape the international diffusion of knowledge and demonstrate the importance of preferences in determining the type of ideas that diffuse into a country.

Teaching Character Education Through Literature Karen Bohlin, 2005-05-03 Offering guidance to teachers on including character education within their lessons this book shows how teachers can provide an encounter with literature that enables students to be more responsive to ethical themes and questions. WLA, 2006. Quagmire Phil Beidler (foreword) Donald Anderson (editor), 2021-10 In Quagmire you will find a range of voices men and women military and civilian and a range of perspectives from the homeland the combat zone and war's aftermath. These personal responses to war in Iraq and Afghanistan have been selected from War Literature the Arts An International Journal of the Humanities to mark the thirtieth anniversary of its inaugural publication. The responses cover approximately fifteen years of the United States conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan and demonstrate the aftermath of war and the degreed ripples that extend beyond soldiers to families and friends lovers hometowns even pets. As citizens Pablo Neruda advised we have an obligation to come and see the blood in the streets. To ignore what we do in war and what war does to us is to move willfully toward ignorance. To ignore such reminders imperils ourselves our communities and our nation.
