Long Range Shooting Shawn Armstrong,2025-05-09 This guide provides an in depth exploration of long distance shooting focusing on essential safety protocols and technical skills required for success It begins by stressing the importance of properly zeroing your scope and establishing stable firing positions as these are foundational to achieving accuracy A key concept introduced is the Natural Point of Aim which emphasizes the use of skeletal support rather than relying solely on muscle strength for stability The role of a spotter is highlighted along with critical skills such as breath control and the proper technique for trigger squeeze all of which contribute significantly to precision shooting The guide also discusses the necessity of securing windage and elevation knobs after zeroing to maintain consistency in adjustments A thorough understanding of ballistics is presented including the significance of Minute of Angle MOA as a measurement for accuracy Practical tools such as handheld ballistic computers mil dot ranging systems and laser range finders are recommended for effective distance measurement Additionally the guide covers advanced techniques for managing environmental factors like wind targeting moving objects and employing bracketing methods to enhance shooting efficacy It concludes with guidance on creating and utilizing a range card which serves as a strategic tool for planning and executing successful long range shots Overall this comprehensive resource equips shooters with both the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for mastering long range shooting

American War Stories Brenda M. Boyle, 2020-11-13
 American War Stories breaks down the American perception of wars and focuses on how and why we conceptualize the war story It is one of the first studies to ask readers to contemplate what constitutes a war story and how that constitution obscures the normalizing of militarism in American culture

Transnational Film and the US Wars in Iraq & Afghanistan
 Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, Marek Paryż, 2025-01-15 This book offers insights into diverse non American national perspectives on the US led military interventions in Afghanistan and Iraq within the generic frames of the war film While the best known films about the post 9 11 wars in the Middle East are American productions various other national cinematographies have responded to these conflicts which is not surprising given the fact that international coalitions were formed to support the US military effort However non American war films about these US instigated interventions have received little attention outside their own national contexts This volume fills in the gap in the existing war film criticism by offering insights into how the Afghanistan War 2001 2021 and the Iraq War 2003 2011 have been represented in popular and documentary filmic productions in Iraq Afghanistan Great Britain Germany Denmark Poland Spain and Australia The contributions prove the need for transnationalism as an eye opening perspective on the war film genre by underscoring nationally specific social political and aesthetic differences alongside important correspondences between cultural productions across nations Transnational film and the US wars in Iraq and Afghanistan will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of film studies media and cultural studies film history war studies literary criticism and sociology It was originally published as a special issue of Journal of War Culture Studies

The Enemy in Contemporary Film Martin Löschnigg, Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, 2018-08-21 Culture and conflict inevitably go hand in hand The very idea of culture is marked by the notion of difference and by the creative fraught interaction between conflicting concepts and values The same can be said of all key ideas in the study of culture such as identity and diversity memory and trauma the translation of cultures and globalization dislocation and emplacement mediation and exclusion This series publishes theoretically informed original scholarship from the fields of literary and cultural studies as well as media visual and film studies It fosters an interdisciplinary dialogue on the multiple ways in which conflict supports and constrains the production of meaning on how conflict is represented how it relates to the past and projects the present and how it frames scholarship within the humanities Editors Isabel Capeloa Gil Catholic University of Portugal Lisbon Portugal Paulo de Medeiros University of Warwick UK Catherine Nesci University of California Santa Barbara USA Editorial Board Arjun Appadurai New York

A Global Racial Enemy Saher Selod, Inaash Islam, Steve Garner, 2023-11-28 Prejudice against Muslims has a long and complex history In recent decades discrimination violence and human rights abuses against Muslims have taken a significant turn with rising reports and discussions of Islamophobia across the globe However much of the conversation has missed the key features of this increasingly insidious phenomenon This original book puts race at the center of the analysis exposing the global racialization of Muslims With special attention paid to the United States China India and the United Kingdom the authors examine both the unique national contexts and crucially the shared characteristics of anti Muslim racism They uncover how a range of counterterrorism policies from hyper surveillance to racialized policing and the ensuing representation of Islam have taken a decisive role in shaping social life for Muslims and have worked across borders to justify and institutionalize an acceptable state sponsored face of racism Ultimately A Global Racial Enemy argues that anti Muslim animus is a symptom of a global and powerful form of twenty first century racism

Through the Crosshairs Roger Stahl, 2018-06-21 Now that it has become so commonplace we rarely blink an eye at camera footage framed by the crosshairs of a sniper s gun or from the perspective of a descending smart bomb But how did this weaponized gaze become the norm for depicting war and how has it influenced public perceptions Through the Crosshairs traces the genealogy of this weapon s eye view across a wide range of genres including news reports military public relations images action movies video games and social media posts As he tracks how gun camera footage has spilled from the battlefield onto the screens of everyday civilian life Roger Stahl exposes how this raw video is carefully curated and edited to promote identification with military weaponry rather than with the targeted victims He reveals how the weaponized gaze is not only a powerful propagandistic frame but also a prime site of struggle over the representation of state violence

Going Scapegoat David A. Buchanan, 2016-09-12 Since 9/11 war literature has become a key element in American popular culture spurring critical debate about depictions of combat Who can write war literature When can they do it This book presents a new way to closely read war narratives questioning the idea of combat gnosticism the belief that the experience of war is impossible to communicate to those who have not seen it that has dominated the discussion Adapting Kenneth Burke's scapegoat mechanism to the criticism of literature and film the author examines three novels from 2012 Ben Fountain's Billy Lynn's Long Halftime Walk David Abrams's FOBBIT and Kevin Powers' The Yellow Birds that represent the U.S. military responses to 9/11

Studying The Hurt Locker Terence McSweeney, 2019-07-02 In this vibrant and dynamic book length study drawing on a broad tapestry of research Terence McSweeney offers an exploration of The Hurt Locker 2009 its stylistic and narrative devices its cultural impact its reception and its relationship to the genre of the war film McSweeney places the film in a richly textured historical political and industrial context arguing that The Hurt Locker is part of a long tradition of films about American wars that play a considerable role in how audiences come to understand the conflicts that they depict Thus films about a nation's wars are never only a movie but rather should be considered a cultural battleground themselves on which a war of representation is waged

U.S. Militarism and the Terrain of Memory John Bechtold, 2024-08-01 This book analyzes how the Iraqi city of Fallujah became registered as a setting for military heroics in American memory In 2004 the U.S. military conducted two disastrous assaults in Fallujah Iraq More than 1 000 citizens were killed and according to the military's own estimate upwards of 200 000 people were displaced because of the violence Yet despite this human catastrophe the kind of information that emerged in the public domain during the battle foregrounded the soldier's experience in war while effacing the destruction of Iraqi bodies This tendency to foreground the soldier body is a direct result of the military's intervention in what they conceptualize as the information environment This book draws from the second assault in Fallujah as a case study to explicate the military's investment in this perspectival space which is a consequence both of the mediatization of contemporary war and of the need to influence knowledge considered unfavorable to military operations In short the military enlists the media in their targeting process to produce information that is then deployed as persuasive force to modify the beliefs of specific target populations When the cultural texts produced by the media are remediated in the public domain after war they can be thought of as martial constructs because they originated during war through the military's systemized attempt to influence knowledge That is these texts trace to a specific battlefield objective This book reframes the notion of propaganda as a generalized public relations strategy into a more acute and coordinated attempt to decontextualize specific knowledge in the information environment This book will be of much interest to students of media and communication studies war studies memory studies and international relations God, Guns,

Gold and Glory Lauren Langman, George Lundskow, 2016-09-12 America beginning as a small group of devout Puritan settlers ultimately became the richest most powerful Empire in the history of the world but having reached that point is now in a process of implosion and decay This book inspired by Frankfurt School Critical Theory especially Erich Fromm offers a unique historical cultural and characterological analysis of American national character and its underlying psychodynamics Specifically this analysis looks at the persistence of Puritan religion as well as the extolling of male toughness and America's unbridled pursuit of wealth Finally its self image of divinely blessed exceptionalism has fostered vast costs in lives and wealth But these qualities of its national character are now fostering both a decline of its power and a transformation of its underlying social character This suggests that the result will be a changing social character that enables a more democratic tolerant and inclusive society one that will enable socialism genuine participatory democracy and a humanist framework of meaning This book is relevant to understanding America's past present and future Black Film British Cinema II Clive Nwonka, Anamik Saha, 2021-03-02 The politics of race in British screen culture over the last 30 years vis a vis the institutional textual cultural and political shifts that have occurred during this period Black Film British Cinema II considers the politics of blackness in contemporary British cinema and visual practice This second iteration of Black Film British Cinema marking over 30 years since the ground breaking ICA Documents 7 publication in 1988 continues this investigation by offering a crucial contemporary consideration of the textual institutional cultural and political shifts that have occurred from this period It focuses on the practices values and networks of collaborations that have shaped the development of black film culture and representation But what is black British film How do such films however defined produce meaning through visual culture and what are the political social and aesthetic motivations and effects How are the new forms of black British film facilitating new modes of representation authorship and exhibition Explored in the context of film aesthetics curatorship exhibition and arts practice and the politics of diversity policy Black Film British Cinema II provides the platform for new scholars thinkers and practitioners to coalesce on these central questions It is explicitly interdisciplinary operating at the intersections of film studies media and communications sociology politics and cultural studies Through a diverse range of perspectives and theoretical interventions that offer a combination of traditional chapters long form essays shorter think pieces and critical
