KENGO KUMAANTI-OBJECT:
THE DISSOLUTION AND
DISINTEGRATION OF ARCHITECTURETRANSLATED BY HIROSHI WATANABE

PREFACE

My purpose in writing this book is to criticise architecture that is self-centred and coercive. I am opposed to the presence and atmosphere of certain works of architecture that I have chosen to call objects. Whether or not a building is an object is determined by its character rather than its architectural style.

To be precise, an object is a form of material existence distinct from its immediate environment.

I do not deny that all buildings, as points of singularity created by humankind in the environment, are to some extent objects. However, buildings that are deliberately made distinct from their environment are very different from those that attempt to mitigate this isolation, and the difference is perceptible to everyone who experiences them.

I set out to criticise buildings that are isolated from their environment and eventually came to realise that all architectural styles are open to criticism.

Aa Words Two Anti Object The Dissolution And Disintegration Of Architecture:

Materials and Meaning in Contemporary Japanese Architecture Dana Buntrock, 2013-09-13 In this beautiful and perceptive book Dana Buntrock examines for the first time how tradition is incorporated into contemporary Japanese architecture Looking at the work of five architects Fumihiko Maki Terunobu Fujimori Ryoji Suzuki Kengo Kuma and Jun Aoki Buntrock reveals the aims influencing many wonderful works barely known in the West the sensual side of Japanese architecture borne out of approaches often less concerned with professionalism than with people and place The buildings described in this book illustrate an architecture that embraces uniqueness expressing unusual stories in the rough outlines of rammed earth and rust and demonstrating new paths opening up for architectural practice today For some these examples will offer new insight into expressions of tradition in Japanese architecture for others this book offers inspiration for their own efforts to assert the unique heritage of other regions around the world Compelling insightful and groundbreaking this book is essential for everyone studying Japanese architecture and anyone trying to invoke narrative and tradition in contemporary design

Anti-object Kengo Kuma, 2008 An object is a work of architecture that is expressly cut off from its environment Objects are not exclusive to any particular architectural style but objectification has long been central to western architecture Indeed it might even be said to be the very strategy by which modernism succeeded in conquering the world It is all pervasive because it is consistent with the aim of the prevailing economic system to transform virtually everything into a commodity In Anti Object Kengo Kuma argues that this mindset prevents us from establishing a healthy relationship with the external world and suggests that an alternative form of architecture is not only desirable but possible as well His approach is illustrated with a discussion of works by his office in which he has sought by various tactics to avoid objectification The ideas embodied in these diverse projects have much in common with the Japanese tradition not of monuments but of weaker buildings characterised by their use of natural light and natural materials Publisher's website

Approaching Architecture Miguel Guitart, 2022-09-30 The study of the architectural discipline suffers from an increasing disconnect between its teaching and its professional practice In this edited collection 18 architectural voices address this disconnect by reflecting on the ways in which they exercise the architectural discipline in three ways research teaching and practice This book argues that the totality of activities encompassed by the architectural profession can be best fulfilled when reconsidering the critical interactions between these three fields in the everyday exercise of the profession Split into three parts Architecture as Research Architecture as Pedagogy and Architecture as Practice each section focuses on one of these three dimensions while establishing continuity with the other two In doing so the book not only favors a more fulfilling interaction between academia and the profession but also reinforces the implementation of design theory and research in everyday teaching and practice The contributions come from 18 teams of architects operating from geographically diverse locations including Pezo von Ellrichshausen in Chile Kengo Kuma Associates in Japan Barclay Crousse in Peru Shift in Iran

Heinrich Wolff in South Africa and People's Architecture Office in China opening the design conversation to larger contexts and framing continuity and inclusion in time Written for students instructors and practitioners alike the inspiring reflections in this volume encourage readers to grow as architects and play an instrumental role in transforming the built environment
