Developing a Leadership Role Within the Key Stage 1 Curriculum Julie A. Davies, 1995 Since 1989 initial teacher training courses in England and Wales have recognized the need for teachers to take a lead in a school subject area in their first appointment There is no longer a place for a primary school teacher newly qualified or not whose sole responsibility is his or her own class Further a teacher must have specific specialist knowledge and expertise in particular subjects which must be disseminated to the rest of the staff A teacher also needs to develop the skills of communication leadership and persuasion exceptional ability to develop into confident and well adjusted young people we need to understand what lies behind many of the common frustrations and problems some of them may experience This book looks at ways in which supportive learning environments can be created in which children and young people s abilities can be nurtured and encouraged Ways in which the school curriculum can be extended and enriched to maintain children s interest and enthusiasm in their learning are also explored This will be of particular interest to parents teachers and educational psychologists to teachers in training and to other professionals who support the work of families and schools

Assessing Children'S Mathematical Knowledge

Cooper, Barry,Dunne, Mairead,1999-12-01 this work is highly relevant to the proliferation of accountability measures worldwide James Scheurich and Douglas Foley In many countries the lives of teachers and children are increasingly dominated by programmes of national testing of mathematics and other subjects In England the majority of the items in such tests have set mathematical tasks in every day situations such as shopping This requires children to make decisions about whether to use or not their own every day knowledge and experience in their problem solving Some children are likely to have a better feel for this game than others Assessing Children s Mathematical Knowledge draws on the analysis of national curriculum test data from more than 600 children of 10 11 and 13 14 years of age as well as in depth interviews with 250 of these as they attempt to solve test problems in order to explore the nature of the difficulties children experience with realistic items The book shows by comparing test and interview data that many children as a consequence of their confusion over the requirements of realistic test items fail in tests to demonstrate mathematical knowledge and understanding that they actually possess The book also explores whether this problem of invalid measurement is equally spread across children from different social backgrounds and across the sexes The book will be of interest to academics and teachers studying for advanced degrees in mathematics education sociology of education and educational assessment

School Leadership in the Context of Standards-Based Reform

Louis Volante,2012-05-16 Although standards based reform emerged in the United States and the United Kingdom the idea has spread across the world as an approach to systemic reform It might appear that there is a world wide tsunami of standards based reform that will standardize and homogenize the educational system across the globe This volume makes it very clear however that there is no one approach to standards based reform and countries change there is a danger in paying attention to its evolution and impact in only one context That s what makes this volume so valuable Louis Volante has drawn together descriptions from a wide range of countries all involved in large scale reform and using standards and assessments as part of their process What becomes very obvious is that the language may be the same but the words reflect different contexts and can represent very different ideals values and processes I m sure you will find this book as interesting and challenging as I have a gem that pushes your thinking and does not allow readers to remain neutral Lorna Earl

Reading Under Control Judith Graham,Alison Kelly,2015-09-29 Now in an updated third edition this best selling textbook introduces primary teachers to the key issues in how to teach reading The authors

Public Expenditure Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Children, Schools and Families Committee, 2009 In its annual examination of the Department for Children Schools and Families DCSF spending the Children Schools and Families Committee predicts that future funding will be much tighter than at present and the rate of spending growth will be minimal come the next Spending Review The Committee is pleased that the Government has reaffirmed its commitment to capital investment in education but there is concern that the review of Building Schools for the Future will lead to the programme being curtailed To avoid doubt the Department should make a clear statement about the programme's future The Committee identifies key problems with the presentation of expenditure figures in the report including confusion about which expenditure streams or grants deliver which objectives and calls on the Department to rectify these problems in its next Annual Report To ensure real accountability staging points must be included for long term Public Service Agreement PSA targets In order to assess whether these targets have been met it is imperative that DCSF does not revise them at every three yearly spending review The Committee is disappointed that details on how DCSF achieved its efficiency savings are vague and it expects much more of the promised detail in the 2009 Departmental Annual Report
