Peggy L. Maki, 2023-07-03 While there is consensus that institutions need to represent their educational effectiveness through documentation of student learning the higher education community is divided between those who support national standardized tests to compare institutions educational effectiveness and those who believe that valid assessment of student achievement is based on assessing the work that students produce along and at the end of their educational journeys This book espouses the latter philosophy what Peggy Maki sees as an integrated and authentic approach to providing evidence of student learning based on the work that students produce along the chronology of their learning She believes that assessment needs to be humanized as opposed to standardized to take into account the demographics of institutions as students do not all start at the same place in their learning Students also need the tools to assess their own progress In addition to updating and expanding the contents of her first edition to reflect changes in assessment practices and developments over the last seven years such as the development of technology enabled assessment methods and the national need for institutions to demonstrate that they are using results to improve student learning Maki focuses on ways to deepen program and institution level assessment within the context of collective inquiry about student learning Recognizing that assessment is not initially a linear start up process or even necessarily sequential and recognizing that institutions develop processes appropriate for their mission and culture this book does not take a prescriptive or formulaic approach to building this commitment What it does present is a framework with examples of processes and strategies to assist faculty staff administrators and campus leaders to develop a sustainable and shared core institutional process that deepens inquiry into what and how students learn to identify and improve patterns of weakness that inhibit learning This book is designed to assist colleges and universities build a sustainable commitment to assessing student learning at both the institution and program levels It provides the tools for collective inquiry among faculty staff administrators and students to develop evidence of students abilities to integrate apply and transfer learning as well as to construct their own meaning Each chapter also concludes with 1 an Additional Resources section that includes references to meta sites with further resources so users can pursue particular issues in greater depth and detail and 2 worksheets guides and exercises designed to build collaborative ownership of assessment The second edition now covers Strategies to connect students to an institution s or a program s assessment commitment Description of the components of a comprehensive institutional commitment that engages the institution educators and students all as learners Expanded coverage of direct and indirect assessment methods including technology enabled methods that engage students in the process New case studies and campus examples covering undergraduate graduate education and the co curriculum New chapter with case studies that presents a framework for a backward designed problem based assessment process anchored in answering open ended research or study questions that lead to improving pedagogy and educational practices Integration of developments across professional scholarly and accrediting bodies and disciplinary organizations Descriptions and illustrations of assessment management systems Additional examples exercises guides and worksheets that align with new content

Dr. P. C. Nagasubramani, Adult learners have more options for enrolling in postsecondary education than ever before and they are able to use their learning style preference in deciding which program best meets their needs For some of these students those programs are fully online and for others there is minimal use of technology As technology grows and become more integrated into individual lives the unique learning styles and preferences of adults need to learn to be incorporated into instructional design Drawing on a regional sample of US colleges 545 adult learners in a graduate programs were surveyed about how to effectively build community in their online classes Results indicated some agreement with these instructional tools Mature adult learners however were found to have stronger agreement with strategies that included work outside of the formal online class These results suggest perhaps a greater comfort for adults in working in spaces where there is less likelihood of being judged or graded and that they might value relational work with other students in different ways than younger adults Demystifying Outcomes Assessment for International Educators Darla K. Deardorff, 2023-07-03

For many in international education assessment can seem daunting and overwhelming especially given that such efforts need to involve much more than a pre post survey This book is a practical guide to learning outcomes assessment in international education for practitioners who are starting to engage with the process as well as for those who want to improve the quality and effectiveness of their assessment efforts Assuming no prior knowledge the book offers an accessible and clear road map to the application of assessment Recognizing that a one size fits all approach cannot capture the diversity of goals and settings of international education or the rich variety of programs and organizations involved in delivering it author Darla Deardorff provides the reader with foundational principles and knowledge to develop appropriate assessment approaches for evaluating and improving student learning outcomes which are the drivers of higher education internationalization She provides the background for assessment highlights how the characteristics of international education pose unique challenges for assessment considers the contexts to which assessment may be applied whether in cross border or at home institutional experiences such as in curricular co curricular or extracurricular settings and distills a seemingly convoluted process into a manageable approach From the basics of getting started in assessment to highlighting pitfalls to avoid this book offers a holistic and practical approach to assessment that moves beyond seeing assessment as a discrete activity to on going process that is integrated into student learning There is also a unique chapter for education leaders on assessment essentials from a leadership perspective The appendices include worksheets for implementing assessment creating an assessment team and getting buy in from stakeholders Other appendices include a list of standards adapted to international education outcomes assessment guidance on assessing intercultural competence and resources This book reflects the author s experience of over a decade of work with international education programs and higher education institutions around the world and synthesizes what she has learned into an easy to use resource for anyone who wants to understand and utilize effective assessment in the
