Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa Higher Education in Sub-Saharan Africa in the 21st Century Ben Kei Daniel, Ronald Bisaso, 2023-07-08 This book contributes to the understanding of regional and global perspectives on the development and challenges the higher education sector in sub Saharan Africa faces in the era of globalization It focuses on the critical aspects of the higher education sector in the Global South with a particular emphasis on sub Saharan Africa It brings together empirical theoretical and philosophical perspectives from researchers in some of the leading universities in sub Saharan Africa The book highlights the higher education sector's stages of growth and development and the contemporary challenges it faces in aligning its goals and capacity globally and maintaining its image and public identity locally This book covers neoliberal educational reforms leadership and governance pedagogy technology the global knowledge economy and digital advancement It delves into how the nature and practice of learning teaching research and community engagement as core functions of higher education are re oriented to contribute to societal transformation in Africa Further the book discusses the implications of contemporary issues in higher education internationalization employability leadership and management and accountability and autonomy in teaching research and community engagement The Uganda Gazette Uganda, 2017 MEDINFO 2015:
