Casada, 1994 Contains a collection of thirty four turkey hunting tales by avid hunter and outdoor enthusiast Archibald Rutledge Southern Writers Joseph M. Flora, Amber Vogel, 2006-06-21 This new edition of Southern Writers assumes its distinguished predecessor's place as the essential reference on literary artists of the American South Broadly expanded and thoroughly revised it boasts 604 entries nearly double the earlier edition's written by 264 scholars For every figure major and minor from the venerable and canonical to the fresh and innovative a biographical sketch and chronological list of published works provide comprehensive concise up to date information Here in one convenient source are the South's novelists and short story writers poets and dramatists memoirists and essayists journalists scholars and biographers from the colonial period to the twenty first century What constitutes a southern writer is always a matter for debate Editors Joseph M Flora and Amber Vogel have used a generous definition that turns on having a significant connection to the region in either a personal or literary sense New to this volume are younger writers who have emerged in the quarter century since the dictionary's original publication as well as older talents previously unknown or unacknowledged For almost every writer found in the previous edition a new biography has been commissioned Drawn from the very best minds on southern literature and covering the full spectrum of its practitioners Southern Writers is an indispensable reference book for anyone intrigued by the subject Turkey Hunting Kate Canino, 2011-01-15 Provides an excellent introduction to the sport of turkey hunting including safety considerations licenses gear and hunting strategies Carolina Christmas Archibald Rutledge, 2012-08-24 A collection of holiday tales poems and recipes celebrating hearth and hunt in the South of yesteryear Carolina Christmas collects for the first time holiday stories of Archibald Rutledge 1883 1973 one of the most prolific outdoor and nature writers of the twentieth century and the first poet laureate of South Carolina Some of Rutledge's finest writing revolves around his vivid memories of hunt hearth and holidays These memories are celebrated in this keepsake collection of enduring stories and poems further augmented with traditional recipes and food lore associated with the season Archibald Rutledge spent decades teaching at Mercersburg Academy in Pennsylvania All the while he supplemented his income through his writings in order to support a growing family and restoration efforts at Hampton Plantation his ancestral home in coastal South Carolina now a state historic site Each Christmas Rutledge returned to his cherished Hampton Plantation for hunting celebrations of the season and renewal of his decidedly Southern soul This annual migration home meant the opportunity to enjoy hunting and communion with nature so vitally important to him and to renew acquaintances with those living on neighboring plantations and with the African American community he immortalized in his book God's Children Rutledge wrote dozens of stories and poems revolving around the Hampton Hunt fellowship with family and friends the serenity of the winter woods and his appetite for seasonal Southern foodways Edited by Jim Casada this collection highlights the very best of Rutledge's holiday tales in a vibrant tapestry through which Christmas runs as a bright sparkling thread In these tales of Christmas past each representative of the author's sterling literary reputation and continuing popularity Rutledge guides us once more into a world of traditions now largely lost But to tread those forgotten trails once more to sample and savor the foods he loved and to experience vicariously the sport he so enjoyed is to experience the wonder of yesteryear South Carolina Wildlife, 1997

Hunting and the Ivory Tower Douglas Higbee, David Bruzina, 2018-05-11 Seventeen hunter scholars explore the hunting experience and question common negative stereotypes Despite the academy having a reputation for supporting broad and open inquiry in scholarship some academics have not extended this open minded support to colleagues personal pursuits A variety of scholars enjoy hunting which has been stereotyped by some as an activity of the unsophisticated In Hunting and the Ivory Tower Douglas Higbee and David Bruzina present essays by seventeen hunter scholars who explore the hunting experience and question negative assumptions about hunting made by intellectuals and academics who do not hunt Higbee and Bruzina suspect most academics understanding of hunting is based on brief television news reports of hunter politicians and commercials for reality TV shows such as Duck Dynasty The editors contend that few scholars appreciate the complexities of hunting or give much thought to its ethical ecological and cultural ramifications Through this anthology they hope to start a conversation about both hunting and academia and how they relate The contributors to this anthology are academics from a variety of disciplines each with firsthand hunting experience Their essays vary in style and tone from the scholarly to the personal and represent the different ways in which scholars engage with their avocation The essays are grouped into three sections the first focuses on the often fraught relation between hunters and academic culture the second section offers personal accounts of hunting by academics and the third portrays hunting from an explicitly academic point of view whether in terms of value theory metaphysics or history Combined these essays render hunting as a culturally rich deeply personal and intellectually satisfying experience worthy of further discussion A foreword is provided by Robert DeMott the Edwin and Ruth Kennedy Distinguished Professor at Ohio University in Athens Ohio He is a teacher writer critic and internationally respected expert on novelist John Steinbeck Literary South Carolina Edwin C.
