African American Womens Language Discourse Education And Identity:

African American Women's Language Sonja L. Lanehart, 2020-06-12 African American Women's Language Discourse Education and Identity is a groundbreaking collection of research on African American Women's Language that is long overdue. It brings together a range of research including variationist, autoethnography, phenomenological, ethnographic, and critical. The authors come from a variety of disciplines: e.g. Sociology, African American Studies, Africana Studies, Linguistics, Sociophonetics, Sociolinguistics, Anthropology, Literacy Education, English, Ecological Literature, Film, Hip Hop Language Variation, scientific paradigms: e.g. critical race theory, narrative interaction, discursive, variationist, post-structural and post-positive perspectives and inquiry methods: e.g. quantitative, qualitative, ethnographic and multimethod, while addressing a variety of African American female populations: e.g. elementary school, middle school, adults and activity settings: e.g. classrooms, family, community, church, film. Readers will get a good sense of the language, discourse, identity, community and grammar of African American women. The essays provide the most current research on African American Women's Language and expand a literature that has too often only focused on male populations at the expense of letting the sistas speak.

African American, Creole, and Other Vernacular Englishes in Education John R. Rickford, Julie Sweetland, Angela E. Rickford, Thomas Grano, 2012-11-12 More than 50 years of scholarly attention to the intersection of language and education have resulted in a rich body of literature on the role of vernacular language varieties in the classroom. This field of work can be bewildering in its size and variety, drawing as it does on the diverse methods, theories and research paradigms of fields such as sociolinguistics, applied linguistics, psychology and education. Compiling most of the publications from the past half century that deal with this critical topic, this volume includes more than 1600 references: books, articles in journals or books and web-accessible dissertations and other works on education in relation to African American Vernacular English, AAVE, English-based pidgins and creoles, Latina/o English, Native American English and other English vernaculars such as Appalachian English in the United States and Aboriginal English in Australia, with accompanying abstracts for approximately a third of them. This comprehensive bibliography provides a tool useful for those interested in the complex issue of how knowledge about language variation can be used to more effectively teach students who speak a nonstandard or stigmatized language variety.

Language in African American Communities Sonja Lanehart, 2022-12-30 Language in African American Communities is essential reading for anyone with an interest in the language, culture and sociohistorical contexts of African American communities. It will also benefit those with a general interest in language and culture, language and language users, and language and identity. This book includes discussions of traditional and non-traditional topics regarding linguistic explorations of African American communities that include difficult conversations around race and racism. Language in African American Communities provides an introduction to the sociolinguistic and paralinguistic aspects of language use in African American communities, sociocultural and historical contexts and development, notions about grammar and discourse the significance of naming and the pall of race and racism in discussions and research of language variation and change activities and discussion questions which invite readers to consider their own perspectives on language use in African American communities and how it manifests in their own lives and communities and links to relevant videos stories music and digital media that represent language use in African American communities Written in an approachable conversational style that uses the author's native African American Women's Language this book is aimed at college students and others with little or no prior knowledge of linguistics

Investing in the Educational Success of Black Women and Girls Lori D. Patton, Venus Evans-Winters, Charlotte Jacobs, 2023-07-03 In the powerful essays that make up Investing in the Educational Success of Black Women and Girls Black women and girls are listened to appreciated and valued in recognition of the unrelenting challenges to our existence in a world that continues to be committed to stifling our voices What these authors know intimately is that such stifling is not because what Black women and girls are saying isn't important It is precisely because it is This book names the challenges Black women and girls continue to experience as we pursue our education and offers implications and recommendations for practitioners teachers administrators and policymakers It needs to be read widely and deeply studied as much for its formations and beautiful representations of Black women and girls as its recommendations It is the truth telling we need today and a groundbreaking resource we need today and beyond Cynthia B. Dillard Nana Mansa II of Mpeasem Ghana Athens Georgia and Cape Coast Central Region Ghana While figures on Black women and girls degree attainment suggest that as a group they are achieving in society the reality is that their experiences are far from monolithic that the educational system from early on and through college imposes barriers and inequities pushing many out of school criminalizing their behavior and leading to a high rate of incarceration The purpose of this book is to illuminate scholarship on Black women and girls throughout the educational pipeline The contributors all Black women educators scholars and advocates name the challenges Black women and girls face while pursuing their education as well as offer implications and recommendations for practitioners policymakers teachers and administrators to consider in ensuring the success of Black women and girls This book is divided into four sections each identifying the barriers Black girls and women encounter at the stages of their education and offering strategies to promote their success and agency within and beyond educational contexts In Part One the contributors explore the importance of mattering for Black girls in terms of redefining success and joy centering Black girl literacy pedagogies that encourage them to thrive examining how to make STEM more accessible to them and recounting how Black girls emotions and emotional literacy can either disempower them or promote their sense of agency to navigate educational contexts Part Two uncovers the violence directed toward and the criminalization of Black women and girls and how they are situated in educational and justice systems that collude to fail them The contributors address incarceration and the process of rehabilitation and reentry the outcomes of disciplinary action in schools on women who pursue college and describe how the erasure and disregard of Black women and girls leaves them absent from the educational policies that deeply affect their lives and wellbeing Part Three focuses on how Black women are left to navigate without resources that could make their collegiate pathways smoother covers how hair politics impact their acceptance in college leadership roles particularly at HBCUs illuminates the importance of social emotional and mental health for Black undergraduate women and the lack of adequate resources and explores how women with disabilities navigate higher education The final part of this book describes transformative approaches to supporting the educational needs of Black women and girls including the use of a politicized ethic of care intergenerational love and dialogue and constructing communities including digital environments to ensure they thrive through their education and beyond

The Poetics of Difference Mecca Jamilah Sullivan, 2021-10-19 Winner of the Modern Language Association MLA s William Sanders Scarborough Prize From Audre Lorde Ntozake Shange and Bessie Head to Zanele Muholi Suzan Lori Parks and Missy Elliott Black women writers and artists across the African Diaspora have developed nuanced and complex creative forms Mecca Jamilah Sullivan ventures into the unexplored spaces of black women s queer creative theorizing to learn its languages and read the textures of its forms Moving beyond fixed notions Sullivan points to a space of queer imagination where black women invent new languages spaces and genres to speak the many names of difference Black women s literary cultures have long theorized the complexities surrounding nation and class the indeterminacy of gender and race and the multiple meanings of sexuality Yet their ideas and work remain obscure in the face of indifference from Western scholarship Innovative and timely The Poetics of Difference illuminates understudied queer contours of black women s writing
