Architectures of Sound Michael Fowler, 2017-10-23 Architects are used to designing visually. In order to expand their basic design tools, this book explores the interactions between sound, space, hearing, and architecture. To this end, the author uses contemporary and historic buildings and projects but also fictional philosophical and theoretical approaches. The idea is not only to define sound as a source but also as an instrument of architectural space. By introducing a metatheory of critical hearing, designers are able to acoustically test their projects and contribute to their design with auditive input already at the design stage.

Weaponized Architecture Léopold Lambert, 2012 Research informs the development of a project which rather than defusing these characteristics attempts to integrate them within the scene of a political struggle. The proposed project dramatizes through its architecture a Palestinian disobedience to the colonial legislation imposed on its legal territory. In fact, the State of Israel masters the elaboration of territorial and architectural colonial apparatuses that act directly on Palestinian daily lives. In this regard, it is crucial to observe that 63% of the West Bank is under total control of the Israeli Defense Forces in regards to security, movement, planning, and construction. Weaponized Architecture is thus manifested as a Palestinian shelter with an associated agricultural platform which expresses its illegality through its architectural vocabulary.

Architecture and the Body, Science and Culture Kim Sexton, 2017-10-20 The relationship of architecture to the human body is a centuries long and complex one but not always symmetrical. This book opens a space for historians of the visual arts, archaeologists, architects, and digital humanities professionals to reflect upon embodiment, spatiality, science, and architecture in premodern and modern cultural contexts. Architecture and the Body: Science and Culture poses one overarching question: How does a period's understanding of bodies as objects of science impinge upon architectural thought and design? The answers are sophisticated interdisciplinary explorations of theory, technology, symbolism, medicine, violence, psychology, deformity, and salvation, and they have unexpected and fascinating implications for architectural design and history. The new research published in this volume reinvigorates the Western survey style trajectory from Archaic Greece to post-war Europe with scientifically framed body-centred provocations. By adding the third factor, science, to the architecture and body equation, this book presents a nuanced appreciation for architectural creativity and its embeddedness in other sets of social, institutional, and political relationships. In so doing, it spatializes body theory and ties it to the experience of the built environment in ways that disturb traditional boundaries between the architectural container and the corporeally contained.

Virilio Dictionary John Armitage, 2013-05-31 The first dictionary dedicated to the work of Paul Virilio, offering you clear and contemporary direction through the work of Virilio, the French critic of art and technology.

The Choreographic Jenn Joy, 2014-10-10 An investigation of dance and choreography that views them not only as artistic strategies but also as intrinsically theoretical and critical practices. The choreographic stages a conversation in which artwork is not only looked at but looks back; it is about contact that touches even across distance. The choreographic moves between the corporeal and cerebral to tell the stories of these encounters as dance trespasses into the discourse and disciplines of visual art and philosophy through a series of stutters steps trembles and spasms In The Choreographic Jenn Joy examines dance and choreography not only as artistic strategies and disciplines but also as intrinsically theoretical and critical practices She investigates artists in dialogue with philosophy describing a movement of conceptual choreography that flourishes in New York and on the festival circuit Joy offers close readings of a series of experimental works arguing for the choreographic as an alternative model of aesthetics She explores constellations of works artists writers philosophers and dancers in conversation with theories of gesture language desire and history She choreographs a revelatory narrative in which Walter Benjamin Pina Bausch Francis Al s and Cormac McCarthy dance together she traces the feminist and queer force toward desire through the choreography of DD Dorvillier Heather Kravas Meg Stuart La Ribot Miguel Gutierrez luciana achugar and others she maps new forms of communicability and pedagogy and she casts science fiction writers Samuel R Delany and Kim Stanley Robinson as perceptual avatars and dance partners for Ralph Lemon Marianne Vitali James Foster and Janet Cardiff and George Bures Miller Constructing an expanded notion of the choreographic Joy explores how choreography as critical concept and practice attunes us to a more productively uncertain precarious and ecstatic understanding of aesthetics and art making awareness and experience of space and the creative use can profit greatly from certain aspects of games and the related technology Here the author investigates a fascinating contribution of avant garde art to the construction of space in the field of electronic games and arcades beginning with New Babylon moving through the radical suggestions of the 1960s and 1970s to the commercial and experimental examples of contemporary amusement arcades Also considered are the virtual worlds of video games which are growing increasingly complex The book reveals in a critical yet impressive way how important the element of play has become in today s digital architectonic designs The Italian architect Alberto Iacovoni is one of the founding members of the Studio maO which specializes on architecture and media He is also a member of the office for urban planning Stalker

We Have Never Been Postmodern Steve Redhead,2011-06-29 Is it possible that various disciplines theorists and cultural commentators have been hurtling down a blind alley in the last thirty years searching for the holy grail of the postmodern What if after all we have never have been postmodern Or what if we are instead now living after postmodernity As global culture rushes off the cliff of catastrophe with its neo liberal neo conservative ideologies mangled in the process this book provides theory at the speed of light designed to capture the fast flickering images of the real gone before you can blink in today s accelerated culture

Kenneth Burke + The Posthuman Chris Mays,Nathaniel A. Rivers,Kellie Sharp-Hoskins,2017-10-15 While rhetoric as a discipline is firmly planted in humanism and anthropology posthumanism seeks to leave the human behind This highly original examination of Kenneth Burke s thought grapples with these ostensibly contradictory concepts as opportunities for invention revision and importantly transdisciplinary knowledge making Rather than simply mapping posthumanist rhetorics onto Burke s scholarship Kenneth Burke The Posthuman focuses on the multiplicity of ideas found both in his work and in the idea of posthumanism Taking varied approaches organized within a framework of boundaries and futures the contributors show that studying the humanist theories of Burke in this way creates a satisfyingly chaotic web of interconnections The essays look at how Burke s writing on the human mind and technology from his earliest works to his very latest revisions interrelates with current concepts such as new materiality and coevolution Throughout the contributors pay close attention to the fluidity concerns and contradictions inherent in language symbolism and subjectivity A unique illuminating exploration of the contested relationship between bodies and language this inherently transdisciplinary book will propel important future inquiry by scholars of rhetoric Burke and posthumanism In addition to the editors the contributors are Casey Boyle Kristie Fleckenstein Nathan Gale Julie Jung Steven B Katz Steven LeMieux Jodie Nicotra Jeff Pruchnic Timothy Richardson Thomas Rickert and Robert Wess

Disability, Space, Architecture: A Reader Jos Boys,2017-02-17 Disability Space Architecture A Reader takes a groundbreaking approach to exploring the interconnections between disability architecture and cities The contributions come from architecture geography anthropology health studies English language and literature rhetoric and composition art history disability studies and disability arts and cover personal theoretical and innovative ideas and work Richer approaches to disability beyond regulation and design guidance remain fragmented and difficult to find for architectural and built environment students educators and professionals By bringing together in one place some seminal texts and projects as well as newly commissioned writings readers can engage with disability in unexpected and exciting ways that can vibrantly inform their understandings of architecture and urban design Most crucially Disability Space Architecture A Reader opens up not just disability but also ability dis ability as a means of refusing the normalisation of only particular kinds of bodies in the design of built space It reveals how our everyday social attitudes and practices about people objects and spaces can be better understood through the lens of disability and it suggests how thinking differently about dis ability can enable innovative and new kinds of critical and creative architectural and urban design education and practice
