racial odyssey is the subject of this remarkable work of historical imagination Matthew Frye Jacobson argues that race resides not in nature but in the contingencies of politics and culture In ever changing racial categories we glimpse the competing theories of history and collective destiny by which power has been organized and contested in the United States Capturing the excitement of the new field of whiteness studies and linking it to traditional historical inquiry Jacobson shows that in this nation of immigrants race has been at the core of civic assimilation ethnic minorities in becoming American were re racialized to become Caucasian Resources in Education ,1980 Psychological Techniques for Teachers Don C. Nuri Robins, Raymond D. Terrell, 2009-06-24 This powerful third edition offers fresh approaches that enable school leaders to engage in effective interactions with students educators and the communities they serve Psychology for Social Workers

Lena Robinson, 2012-10-12 Psychology for Social Workers is designed to help qualifying and practising social workers to understand and counteract the impact of discrimination work in an ethnically sensitive way and demonstrate an awareness of ways to combat both individual and institutional racism through anti racist practice Behavior Modification in Black Populations

Samuel M. Turner, 2012-12-06 During the past decade research and practice in the field of behavior modification have experienced phenomenal growth Behavioral inter vention strategies that were considered strictly experimental a few years ago are now accepted therapeutic modalities and behavioral method ology has been instrumental in creating an atmosphere conducive to the development of scientific rigor in the area of mental health But behav ioral influence has not been limited to mental health There has been considerable impact in education industry government and general health care Although behavior modification has made a significant impact on psychology in general there has been a noticeable lack of theorizing and empirical research on issues primarily related to black populations In fact the black community in general and black psychologists in partic ular often have viewed behavioral approaches with suspicion We hope that the material presented in this volume will serve to clarify what the behavioral approach is and what it is not and that it will help to foster an understanding of the behavioral approach Moreover empirical data demonstrating the effectiveness of behavioral procedures with black populations are presented It is our hope that the material will provide some insight into how behavioral theory methodology and therapeutic strategies can be used to the benefit of black mental health in particular and the overall psychological health of the black community in general Feeling Democracy

Sarah Tobias, Arlene Stein, 2024-06-14 Cultural critic Lauren Berlant wrote that politics is always emotional and her words hold especially true for politics in the twenty first century From Obama to Trump from Black Lives Matter to the anti abortion movement politicians and activists appeal to hope fear anger and pity all amplified by social media The essays in Feeling Democracy examine how both reactionary and progressive politics are driven largely by emotional appeals to the public The contributors in this collection cover everything from immigrants rights movements to white nationalist rallies to show how solidarities forged around gender race and sexuality become catalysts for a passionate democratic politics Some essays draw parallels between today s activist strategies and the use of emotion in women led radical movements from the 1960s and 1970s while others expand the geographic scope of the collection by considering Asian decolonial politics and Egyptian pro democracy protests Incorporating scholarship from fields as varied as law political science philosophy psychoanalysis and history Feeling Democracy considers how emotional rhetoric in politics can be a double edged sword often wielded by authoritarian populists who seek to undermine democracy but sometimes helping to bring about a genuine renewal of participatory democracy The American Mosaic

Anthony Patrick Carnevale, Susan Carol Stone, 1995 A study sponsored by the American Society for Training and Development that places diversity into historical perspective and forecasts the effects of tomorrow's demographically diverse groups on management and labor unions. It breaks down major identity groups by ethnicity, gender, age, sexual preference, and disability, describing how each affects and is affected by the diversity revolution. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc, Portland, OR. Assertion Training Roderick S. Graham, Shân Rees, 2003-09-02. Shân Rees and Roderick Graham show how assertion techniques can be used to enhance your daily life and to improve effectiveness both personally and professionally. A wealth of examples and exercises helps you to assess and improve your own assertion skills, how to get in touch with what you want, how to value your own opinions, how to deal with rejection and criticism, and how to build self-esteem and confidence. Handbook of Multicultural Mental Health Freddy A. Paniagua, Ann-Marie Yamada, 2013-07-19. The Handbook of Multicultural Mental Health, Second Edition, discusses the impact of cultural, ethnic, and racial variables for the assessment, diagnosis, treatment, service delivery, and development of skills for working with culturally diverse populations. Intended for the mental health practitioner, the book translates research findings into information to be applied in practice. The new edition contains more than 50% new material and includes contributions from established leaders in the field as well as voices from rising stars in the area. It recognizes diversity as extending beyond race and ethnicity to reflect characteristics or experiences related to gender, age, religion, disability, and socioeconomic status. Individuals are viewed as complex and shaped by different intersections and salencies of multiple elements of diversity. Chapters have been wholly revised and updated, and new coverage includes indigenous approaches to assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of mental and physical disorders; spirituality; the therapeutic needs of culturally diverse clients with intellectual, developmental, and physical disabilities; suicide among racial and ethnic groups; multicultural considerations for treatment of military personnel; and multicultural curriculum and training. Foundations: overview of theory and models. Specialized assessment in a multicultural context. Assessing and treating four major culturally diverse groups in clinical settings. Assessing and treating other culturally diverse groups in clinical settings. Specific conditions presenting problems in a cultural context. Multicultural competence in clinical settings. The Journal of Psychology Carl Murchison, 1983. Storied Inquiries in International Landscapes Tonya Huber, 2010-06-01. Storied Lives: Emancipatory Educational Inquiry Experience Narrative Pedagogy in the International Landscape of Diversity contains exemplary research practices, strategies, and findings gleaned from the contributions to the 15 issues of the Journal of Critical Inquiry into Curriculum and Instruction. JCI/CI Founding Editor Tonya Huber initiated the JCI/CI in 1997 as a refereed journal committed to publishing educational scholarship and research of professionals in graduate study. The journal was distinguished by its requirement that the scholarship be the result of the first author's graduate research according to Cabell's Directory, the first journal to do so. Equally important, the third issue of each volume targeted wide representation of cultures and world regions. Current thinking on, written by members of the JCI/CI Editorial Advisory Board, explores state-of-the-art topics related to curriculum inquiry.
