Afterimage of Empire Zahid R. Chaudhary, 2012 How the colonial photograph revolutionized the very nature of perception Empires of the Senses Andrew Jon Rotter, 2019 A deeply researched study this book offers the first sensory history of the British empire in India and the United States in the Philippines reflecting on how senses structured the colonizers perception of the colonized and vice versa and impacted the British and American imperial projects Visual Plague Christos Lynteris, 2022-10-25 How epidemic photography during a global pandemic of bubonic plague contributed to the development of modern epidemiology and our concept of the pandemic In Visual Plague Christos Lynteris examines the emergence of epidemic photography during the third plague pandemic 1894 1959 a global pandemic of bubonic plague that led to over twelve million deaths Unlike medical photography epidemic photography was not exclusively or even primarily concerned with exposing the patient's body or medical examinations and operations Instead it played a key role in reconceptualizing infectious diseases by visualizing the pandemic as a new concept and structure of experience one that frames and responds to the smallest local outbreak of an infectious disease as an event of global importance and consequence As the third plague pandemic struck more and more countries the international circulation of plague photographs in the press generated an unprecedented spectacle of imminent global threat Nothing contributed to this sense of global interconnectedness anticipation and fear more than photography Exploring the impact of epidemic photography at the time of its emergence Lynteris highlights its entanglement with colonial politics epistemologies and aesthetics as well as with major shifts in epidemiological thinking and public health practice He explores the characteristics uses and impact of epidemic photography and how it differs from the general corpus of medical photography The new photography was used not simply to visualize or illustrate a pandemic but to articulate respond to and unsettle key questions of epidemiology and epidemic control as well as to foster the notion of the pandemic which continues to affect our lives today The Lion's Share Bernard Porter, 2014-06-11 As well as presenting a lively narrative of events Bernard Porter explores a number of broad analytical themes challenging more conventional and popular interpretations He sees imperialism as a symptom not of Britain's strength in the world but of her decline and he argues that the empire itself both aggravated and obscured deep seated malaise in the British economy The Arab Imago Stephen Sheehi, 2021-08-10 The first history of indigenous photography in the Middle East The birth of photography coincided with the expansion of European imperialism in the Middle East and some of the medium's earliest images are Orientalist pictures taken by Europeans in such places as Cairo and Jerusalem photographs that have long shaped and distorted the Western visual imagination of the region But the Middle East had many of its own photographers collectors and patrons In this book Stephen Sheehi presents a groundbreaking new account of early photography in the Arab world The Arab Imago concentrates primarily on studio portraits by Arab and Armenian photographers in the late Ottoman Empire Examining previously known studios such as Abdullah Fr res Pascal S bah Garabed Krikorian and Khalil Raad the book also provides the first account of other pioneers such as Georges and Louis Saboungi the Kova Brothers Muhammad Sadiq Bey and Ibrahim Rif at Pasha as well as the first detailed look at early photographs of the annual pilgrimage to Mecca In addition the book explores indigenous photography manuals and albums newspapers scientific journals and fiction Featuring extensive previously unpublished images The Arab Imago shows how native photography played an essential role in the creation of modern Arab societies in Egypt Palestine Syria and Lebanon before the First World War At the same time the book overturns Eurocentric and Orientalist understandings of indigenous photography and challenges previous histories of the medium A Camera in the Garden of Eden Kevin

Coleman,2016-02-23 In the early twentieth century the Boston based United Fruit Company controlled the production distribution and marketing of bananas the most widely consumed fresh fruit in North America So great was the company's power that it challenged the sovereignty of the Latin American and Caribbean countries in which it operated giving rise to the notion of company dominated banana republics In A Camera in the Garden of Eden Kevin Coleman argues that the banana republic was an imperial constellation of images and practices that was checked and contested by ordinary Central Americans Drawing on a trove of images from four enormous visual archives and a wealth of internal company memos literary works immigration records and declassified US government telegrams Coleman explores how banana plantation workers women and peasants used photography to forge new ways of being while also visually asserting their rights as citizens He tells a dramatic story of the founding of the Honduran town of El Progreso where the United Fruit Company had one of its main divisional offices the rise of the company now known as Chiquita and a sixty nine day strike in which banana workers declared their independence from neocolonial domination In telling this story Coleman develops a new set of conceptual tools and methods for using images to open up fresh understandings of the past offering a model that is applicable far beyond this pathfinding study Rethinking Islam and Space in Europe C.J.J. Moses,Tobias Müller,Adela

Taleb,2022-09-05 The role of Islam in public spaces is one of the most prevalent political questions in Europe Contestations around the construction of mosques the ban of Islamic veils and populist rhetoric about problematic neighbourhoods indicate Europe's struggles with the place of its second largest religion This book advocates for an analytical turn in the study of Islam in Europe using space as a central conceptual lens While spatial approaches are gaining traction in the study of religion migration ethnicity race and politics the chapters in this book argue that the critical potential of a spatialised analysis in the field of Islam in Europe remains largely unexplored This volume presents a collection of nine empirical studies that offer insights into how scholars might exploit the category of space when analysing both current political issues and broader conceptual questions in the social sciences And more specifically how does a spatial perspective on Islam contribute to a deeper understanding of the formations of the state ethnicity race secularism gender and colonial structures Rethinking Islam and Space in Europe is a significant new contribution to racial and ethnic studies in Europe and will be a great resource for academics researchers and advanced students of Politics Sociology Social and Political Geography Anthropology and Religious Studies The chapters in this book were originally published as a 2021 special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

Building Histories Mrinalini Rajagopalan, 2016 Focusing on five Islamic monuments in Delhi this study shows how their modern history was carefully created by both the colonial and the later postcolonial states Although framed as objective archival truths these histories were meant to erase or marginalize powerful and persistent affective appropriations of the monuments by groups who often existed outside the center of power Each chapter traces the multiple modern histories of a single monument from the mid nineteenth to the late twentieth century The monuments are the Red Fort the Sufi shrine Rasul Numa Dargah the Jama Masjid the Purana Qila and the Qutb Complex Bundok Adrian De Leon, 2023-11-09 From the late eighteenth century the hinterlands of Northern Luzon and its Indigenous people were in the crosshairs of imperial and capitalist extraction Combining the breadth of global history with the intimacy of biography Adrian De Leon follows the people of Northern Luzon across space and time advancing a new vision of the United States's Pacific empire that begins with the natives and migrants who were at the heart of colonialism and its everyday undoing From the emergence of Luzon's eighteenth century tobacco industry and the Hawaii Sugar Planters Association's documentation of workers to the movement of people and ideas across the Suez Canal and the stories of Filipino farmworkers in the American West De Leon traces the Filipino as a racial category emerging from the labor subjugation archiving and resistance of native people De Leon's imaginatively constructed archive yields a sweeping history that promises to reshape our understanding of race making in the Pacific world

Memsahibs Ipshita Nath, 2022-06-16 For young Englishwomen stepping off the steamer the sights and sounds of humid colonial India were like nothing they'd ever experienced For many this was the ultimate destination to find a perfect civil servant husband For still more however India offered a chance to fling off the shackles of Victorian social mores The word memsahib conjures up visions of silly aristocrats well staffed bungalows and languorous days at the club Yet these women had sought out the uncertainties of life in Britain's largest busiest colony Memsahibs introduces readers to the likes of Flora Annie Steel Fanny Parks and Emily Eden accompanying their husbands on expeditions travelling solo across dangerous terrain engaging with political questions and recording their experiences Yet the Raj was not all adventure There was disease and great risk to young women travelling alone for colonial wives in far flung outposts there was little access to society Cut off from modernity and the Western world many women suffered terrible trauma and depression From the hill stations to the capital this is a sweeping vividly written anthology of colonial women's lives across British India Their honesty and bravery in their actions and their writings shine fresh light on this historical world 'Discoveries', Explorations and the Imperial Survey Pramod K. Nayar, 2022-02-15 India and the subcontinent stimulated the curiosity of the British who came to India as traders Each aspect of life in India its people customs geography climate fauna and flora was documented by British travelers traders administrators soldiers to make sense to the European mind As they discovered India and occupied it they also attempted to civilise the natives The present volumes focus on select aspects of the imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission Volume 1 Discoveries Explorations and the Imperial Survey consists of documents that deal with England s discovery of India its exploration and mapping of the subcontinent The texts collected here are accounts of how the British discovered the subcontinent The narrative of discovery with the freshness of the new was couched very often in the rhetoric of wonder But this sense of wonder even astonishment in some cases at the variety magnitude and sheer difference of the land and its people was tempered over time with a narrative of exploration If the discovery moment had a surprise awe and a sense of uncertainty at facing something totally new which in many ways the subcontinent was in the early writings of the seventeenth century the tone emphasis and attitude shifts later on Domesticity, the Social Scene and Leisure Pramod K. Nayar, 2022-02-15 India and the subcontinent stimulated the curiosity of the British who came to India as traders Each aspect of life in India its people customs geography climate fauna and flora was documented by British travelers traders administrators soldiers to make sense to the European mind As they discovered India and occupied it they also attempted to civilise the natives The present volumes focus on select aspects of the imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission Volume 3 Domesticity the Social Scene and Leisure shifts the focus to the English home and social life Domesticity often a fraught exercise for the memsahib carried on with the assistance of a retinue of Indian servants meant tackling corruption inefficiency and the all pervasive social hierarchy of the colonised Advice books were produced to aid the memsahib for this purpose The Steel Gardiner guide to housekeeping which was a bestseller in its day and is excerpted here was indispensable in the length and breadth of its coverage from the care of children to the right wages for the servants Diver s text likewise also demonstrates how running the home was difficult and has a resonance with the male dominion of running the Empire These texts exhorted the English woman to practice thrift control and managerial skills to be aware of the natives penchant for dirt and indolence and the caste community dynamics that inform the servant class Thugs and Dacoits , 2022-10-30 The volumes focus on select aspects of the British imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission This volume documents how the practice of thuggee was viewed by the British before as if it symbolized everything that was wrong with the social order in India The texts collected here are accounts of how the British discovered the subcontinent The narrative of discovery with the freshness of the new was couched very often in the rhetoric of wonder But this sense of wonder even astonishment in some cases at the variety magnitude and sheer difference of the land and its people was tempered over time with a narrative of exploration Indian People and Society Pramod K. Nayar, 2022-02-15 India and the subcontinent stimulated the curiosity of the British who came to India as traders Each aspect of life in India its people customs geography climate fauna and flora was documented by British travelers traders administrators soldiers to make sense to the European mind As they discovered India and occupied it they also attempted to civilise the natives The present volumes focus on select aspects of the imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission Volume 2 Indian People and Society includes English studies of Indian languages people and communities and the social order The landscape provided understandably endless prospects of the survey and the map But the British were also keen on documenting the people In the studies generated for 400 years the British documented castes religions education economies professions cultural practices states of health and sickness and other domains With projects like the Census and the People of India the land s inhabitants were classified and eventually also typecast and contributed to the colonial discourse about the native colonised The 'Civilisational Mission' Pramod K. Nayar, 2022-02-15 India and the subcontinent stimulated the curiosity of the British who came to India as traders Each aspect of life in India its people customs geography climate fauna and flora was documented by British travelers traders administrators soldiers to make sense to the European mind As they discovered India and occupied it they also attempted to civilise the natives The present volumes focus on select aspects of the imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission Volume 5 The Civilisational Mission documents England s social reform and other efforts at improving the colonised The British like other Europeans in Africa and Asian colonies explained defended and promoted their presence and action by presenting themselves in the role of the civilisers Rebellions and Wars Pramod K. Nayar, 2022-02-15 India and the subcontinent stimulated the curiosity of the British who came to India as traders Each aspect of life in India its people customs geography climate fauna and flora was documented by British travelers traders administrators soldiers to make sense to the European mind As they discovered India and occupied it they also attempted to civilise the natives The present volumes focus on select aspects of the imperial archives the accounts of discovery and exploration fauna and flora geography climate the people of the subcontinent English domesticity and social life in the subcontinent the wars and skirmishes including the Mutiny of 1857 58 and the civilisational mission Volume 4 Rebellions and Wars is a collection of accounts of a very different British life in India as prisoners under siege and in conditions of war The British ascendancy in India did not proceed smoothly and colonisation was always a militarised zone of interest action and process The Topographic Imaginary Ari J. Blatt, 2022-05-13 Since the early 1980s art photographers from metropolitan France have been training their lenses on ordinary landscapes throughout the country they call home The Topographic Imaginary is the first book to study this important and flourishing trend It examines work by artists who meld documentary and creative modes to attune viewers to places that mainstream culture tends to tune out but which as Ari J Blatt argues are in fact more meaningful than they initially appear From views of building sites in Paris peri urban edgelands or a tangle of trees in a forest to those that ponder the play of light and shadow on roadside fields in Normandy or the tacky colors painted on dated village shopfronts images that signal the emergence of a topographic turn in contemporary French photography constitute new ways of seeing and sensing France s diverse national territory As Blatt suggests they also represent a visual laboratory through which to investigate how landscape scapes our understanding of French culture In their efforts to reimagine a more traditional and time worn idea of France s shared common space topographic photographs animate conversations about capital and class cities and their peripheries the politics and impact of development migration and borders memory history and affect empire and postcolonialism national identity and the changing environment The Topographic Imaginary thus reveals how attending to place in pictures provides valuable insight into the disposition of a nation in flux Photographing Central Asia Svetlana Gorshenina,Sergei Abashin,Bruno De Cordier,Tatiana Saburova,2022-09-06 This volume addresses new theoretical approaches in visual and memory studies that prompted to rethink of the photography of Russian Turkestan of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Attempts to relate the visual unknown documentations to postcolonial criticism also opened up new interpretive arenas helping to decentralize the analysis of the history of photography The aim of this volume is to interpret photography as a specific tool that reifies reality subjectively frames it and fits it into various political ideological commercial scientific and artistic contexts Without reducing the entire argument to the binary of photography and power the authors reveal the different modes of seeing that involve distinct cultural norms social practices power relations levels of technology and networks for circulating photography and that determined the manner of its re use in constructing various images of Central Asia The volume demonstrates that photography was the cornerstone of imperial media governance and discourse construction in colonial Turkestan of the tsarist and early Soviet periods The various cases show the complex mechanisms by which images of Turkestan were created remembered or forgotten from the nineteenth until the twenty first century The book should appeal to scholars of the Russian Empire and Central Asia of history of photography and visual culture of memory studies It should be appropriate for use in upper level undergraduate courses and even a broader public

Contagious Communities Roberta E. Bivins, 2015 It was only a coincidence that the NHS and the Empire Windrush a ship carrying 492 migrants from Britain's West Indian colonies arrived together On 22 June 1948 as the ship's passengers disembarked frantic preparations were already underway for 5 July the Appointed Day when the nation's new National Health Service would first open its doors The relationship between immigration and the NHS rapidly attained and has enduringly retained notable political and cultural significance Both the Appointed Day and the post war arrival of colonial and Commonwealth immigrants heralded transformative change Together they reshaped daily life in Britain and notions of Britishness alike Yet the reciprocal impacts of post war immigration and medicine in post war Britain have yet to be explored Contagious Communities casts new light on a period which is beginning to attract significant historical interest Roberta Bivins draws attention to the importance but also the limitations of medical knowledge approaches and professionals in mediating post war British responses to race ethnicity and the emergence of new and distinctive ethnic communities By presenting a wealth of newly available or previously ignored archival evidence she interrogates and re balances the political history of Britain's response to New Commonwealth immigration Contagious Communities uses a set of linked case studies to map the persistence of race in British culture and medicine alike the limits of belonging in a multi ethnic welfare state and the emergence of new and resolutely unimagined communities of patients researchers clinicians policy makers and citizens within the medical state and its global contact zones
