Redeeming Words David Michael Kleinberg-Levin, 2013-11-01 Probing study of how literature can redeem the revelatory redemptive powers of language In this probing look at Alfred Döblin's 1929 novel Berlin Alexanderplatz and the stories of W G Sebald Redeeming Words offers a philosophical meditation on the power of language in literature David Kleinberg Levin draws on the critical theory of Benjamin and Adorno the idealism and romanticism of Kant Hegel Hölderlin Novalis and Schelling and the nineteenth and twentieth century thought of Nietzsche Heidegger and Derrida He shows how Döblin and Sebald writers with radically different styles working in different historical moments have in common a struggle against forces of negativity and an aim to bring about in response a certain redemption of language Kleinberg Levin considers the fast paced staccato and hard cut sentences of Doblin and the ghostly languorous and melancholy prose fiction of Sebald to articulate how both writers use language in an attempt to recover and convey this utopian promise of happiness for life in a time of mourning

Gender and Modernity in Central Europe Agatha Schwartz, 2010-10-27 At the end of the nineteenth century Austro-Hungarian society was undergoing a significant re-evaluation of gender roles and identities Debates on these issues revealed deep anxieties within the multi-ethnic empire that did not resolve themselves with its dissolution in 1918 Concepts of gender and modernity as defined by the Habsburg Monarchy were modified by the conservative liberal radical right wing and Communist regimes that ruled the empire's successor states in the twentieth century While these values have taken on new dimensions again in the post-Communist period the Habsburg Monarchy's influence on gender and modernity in Central Europe is still palpable With a truly interdisciplinary approach drawing on the fields of women's studies gender studies sociology history literature art and psychoanalysis that touches on a variety of subjects gender roles sexual identities misogyny painting writing minorities this volume explores the lasting impact of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in contemporary Central Europe which is fraught with gender conflict and tension between modernist and anti-modernist forces The Austro-Hungarian Empire was a fascinating multi-ethnic society Its experience and understanding of gender and modernity provides important relevant lessons for today's world as it becomes increasingly intercultural and as issues of identity become more and more complex Published in English

Shapes of Time Michael McGillen, 2023-12-15 Shapes of Time explores how concepts of time and history were spatialized in early twentieth century German thought Michael McGillen locates efforts in German modernism to conceive of alternative shapes of time beyond those of historicism and nineteenth century philosophies of history at the boundary between secular and theological discourses By analyzing canonical works of German modernism those of Karl Barth Franz Rosenzweig Siegfried Kracauer and Robert Musil he identifies the ways in which spatial imagery and metaphors were employed to both separate the end of history from a narrative framework and to map the liminal relation between history and eschatology

Drawing on theories and practices as disparate as constructivism non Euclidean geometry photography and urban architecture Shapes of Time presents original connections between modernism theology and mathematics as played out within the canon of twentieth century German letters Concepts of temporal and spatial form McGillen contends contribute to the understanding not only of modernist literature but also of larger theoretical concerns within modern cultural and intellectual history
