

INSTALLATION

The Sno-Caster is shipped in one carton completely assembled except for the chain and discharge duct. Position duct over hole in top of roller housing and secure with clamp lever. Mount chain to bottom side plates of roller housing with bearing bolts supplied. The chain has notched links for easing or locking the unit. Position chain at height desired depending upon the smoothness of surface to be coated.

Position Sno-Caster in front of tractor with grooves of unit in grooves on front end of tractor frame. Lower handwheel of snap link and with handwheel depressed, raise the rear of the unit until it snaps into position. Tighten handwheel securely.

Install the drive belt from Sno-Caster shown to motor grooves of engine sheave. Attach the front end of lower tractor control rod assembly to the Sno-Caster drive arm and chain belt tension by engaging belt. When properly adjusted the belt should depress approximately 1/2 inch under thumb pressure. If adjustment is necessary it can be made by sliding the series of holes in the lower tractor control rod assembly. With drive belt engaged, set the belt guides on engine sheave so there is approximately 1/4 inch clearance between belt and guides. The purpose of these guides is to obtain smooth filling of Sno-Caster by holding the belt free from engine sheave when unit is disengaged.

OPERATION

Before starting the tractor engine be sure the Sno-Caster is disengaged. After the engine is running, engage Sno-Caster and with engine at full governor speed, start the forward motion of tractor. The forward speed will depend upon the length and texture of the snow and should be regulated with the tractor reverse-motion control lever. The engine should operate at full governor speed and should not be used to control the forward speed. Do not overload the Sno-Caster. Take a maximum width of cut if necessary to avoid overloading.

If the Sno-Caster should become overloaded and engine speed decreases, stop the forward motion until the unit clears itself. If a severe clogging condition is encountered and it becomes necessary to remove snow from the discharge duct, use a wooden stick and be sure the unit is disengaged.

The discharge duct can be adjusted vertically to control the direction of discharge. The angle of raising the snow can be varied by changing the pitch of the duct sag.

CHAIN TENSION

The unit is assembled with two drive belts, 1/8 inch drive belt and counter-shaft clamps and two 1/2 inch of the belt. If it becomes necessary to tighten the chain, place all the links between the first and counter-shaft clamps. Be sure the chain is not too tight as this will cause excessive wear of chain and sprockets.

LUBRICATION

The unit has one grease fitting in the counter-shaft housing and one in the drive sheave which should be lubricated regularly with pressure gun grease. Lubricate the two oil cups of roller shaft bearings and working parts periodically with light oil.

STORAGE

Before storing the Sno-Caster or allowing it to stand idle in freezing weather, be sure ice and snow are removed from the roller, sheaves, and drive belt. If ice builds on these parts, the driving mechanism may lock and cause belt or chain breakage when the unit is again engaged. When storing for a long period of time, coat exposed parts with a light film of grease to prevent rusting.
