The Many Faces of King Gesar Matthew T. Kapstein, Charles Ramble, 2022-01-31 The Tibetan Gesar epic considered the world s

longest poem has been the object of countless retellings translations and academic studies in the two centuries since it was first introduced to European readers In The Many Faces of Ling Gesar its many aspects historical cultural and literary are surveyed for the first time in a single volume in English addressed to both general readers and specialists The original scholarship presented here by international experts in Tibetan Studies honours the contributions of Rolf A Stein 1911 1999 whose studies of the Tibetan epic are the enduring standard in this field With a foreword by Jean No l Robert Coll ge de France Contributors are Anne Marie Blondeau Chopa Dondrup Estelle Dryland Solomon George FitzHerbert Gregory Forgues Frances Garrett Frantz Grenet Lama Jabb Matthew W King Norbu Wangdan Geoffrey Samuel Siddiq Wahid Wang Guoming Yang Enhong The Mardzong Manuscripts Agnieszka Helman-Ważny, Charles Ramble, 2020-11-16 In 2008 an international team of climbers discovered a large collection of Tibetan manuscripts in a cave complex called Mardzong in Nepal s remote Mustang district The following year the entire cache over five thousand folios from some sixty different works of the Buddhist and B n religions some more than seven centuries old were removed to the safe keeping of a monastery where they were later examined by experts from different disciplines This book is the result of their findings The authors present what they have been able to discover about the content of these manuscripts their age the materials with which they were made the patrons who commissioned them and the scribes and artists who created them Contributors include Agnieszka Helman Wa ny Charles Ramble Nyima Drandul Gurung Naljor Tsering Sarah Skumanov Emilie Arnaud Nguyen and Bazhen Zeren Monastic and Lay Traditions in North-Eastern Tibet ,2013-08-22 In recent years the Sino Tibetan frontier regions have attracted increasing scholarly interest The region of Rebkong in Qinghai province is of particular significance because of its unique location on the Sino Tibetan borderland its multi ethnic population and its complex religious history which incorporates both large Geluk monasteries and significant Nyingma and Bonpo lay tantric communities Covering the nineteenth century to the present this volume brings together ten papers that explore the relationship between religion and culture in Rebkong Using insights from anthropology history and religious studies the contributors offer new research and fresh interpretations of this important region on China s periphery discussing issues of ethnicity and identity the role of public institutions and the role of religion and rituals Ani-la Joke van de Belt, 2010 No but we are different Tonpa Sherab treated men and women in the same way he passed on his teachings to both men and women and that is why we nuns are on equal footing with the monks quite unlike the Buddhists The B n religion is often seen as a part of the Tibetan Buddhism but its bond is actually far more complex and has its own origin in the history of Tibet The role of women worshipping in B n and Tibetan Buddhism is quite different And although there are studies on Buddhist nuns there is hardly any research available on nuns in the B n tradition This pioneering study vividly portrays the nuns of the Redna Menling monastery in Dolanji India the headquarters of the B n religion in exile It focuses on the developments of the B n in exile the specific context in which B n nuns live and how the monastic tradition takes shape It provides interesting insights into the monastic community in exile the historic context of the Bon religion as well as the personal motives to become a nun

Making the Invisible Real Catherine Hartmann, 2025-05-09 How can a person learn to see a mountain as a divine mandala especially when to the ordinary eye the mountain looks like a pile of rocks and snow This is the challenge that the Tibetan pilgrimage tradition poses to pilgrims who are told to overcome their ordinary perception to see the hidden reality of the holy mountain Drawing on multiple genres of Tibetan literature from the 13th to 20th centuries including foundational narratives of holy places polemical debates about the value of pilgrimage written guides to holy sites advice texts and personal diaries this book investigates how the pilgrimage tradition tries to transform pilgrims perception so that they might experience the wondrous sacred landscape as real and materially present Catherine Anne Hartmann argues that the pilgrimage tradition does not simply assume that pilgrims experience this sacred landscape as real but instead leads pilgrims to adopt deliberate practices of seeing ways of looking at and interacting with the world that shape their experience of the holy mountain Making the Invisible Real explores two ways of seeing the pilgrim s ordinary perception of the world and the fantastic vision believed to lie beyond this ordinary perception As pilgrims move through the holy place they move back and forth between these two ways of seeing weaving the ordinary perceived world and extraordinary imagined world together into a single experience Hartmann shows us how seemingly fantastical religious worldviews are not simply believed or taken for granted but actively constructed and reconstructed for new generations of practitioners Illness and Enlightenment

Susannah Deane,2025-02-01 Tibetan understandings of nyon madness encompass a broad range of concepts Perspectives on the causation and treatment of madness as an illness are informed by Tantric and medical understandings of mind body structure and dys functioning as well as people s relationships with non human entities In addition madness may be seen as a sign of enlightenment in the case of some Tantric practitioners Based on ethnographic fieldwork in the Tibetan region of Amdo in northwest China as well as examination of Tibetan medical and religious texts Illness and Enlightenment explores the multi faceted concept of nyon through key Tibetan concepts of wind heart and mind as well as human spirit relationships
